A Visit to the Lava Bed—Indian Tracks Discovered—The Modoc Prisoners—The Massacre.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

BOYLE'S CAMP, TULE LAKE, June 11, by Courier to YREKA, June 12.—Your correspondent, Capt. Bancroft, and others, with Bogus Charley, returned from a visit to the Lava Bed yesterday. We examined some of the remarkable caves, never before visited by white men. We found Indian tracks. It is supposed that the five who are still out are hiding there.

Capt. Jackson's squadron goes to Klamath to-day, and the whole command follows in a few days.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—A dispatch from Boyle's Camp, dated June 11, says: The Modoc captives will be taken to Fort Klamath, where a commission will sit to try them. Some of the wounded soldiers have been already sent to Fort Klamath. It is generally thought that Bogus Charley, Hooker Jim, Shack Nasty Jim, and Steamboat Frank, who volunteered to aid in the capture of Capt. Jack, will escape punishment as murderers, but those who are not tried for murder will be forwarded to Fort Alcatraz, in San Francisco Harbor.

Major Jackson's troops will start for Fort Klamath this evening, to prepare for the reception of the Modoc prisoners.

A dispatch from Jacksonville, Oregon, says Gen. Ross and the Oregon volunteers have just arrived. They deny that the massacre of the Modoc prisoners was committed by Oregon volunteers, and declare that they had other and better opportunities for killing the prisoners if they had desired to do so.

Interview of Judge Steele with Jack and Other Indians.

BOYLE'S CAMP, TULE LAKE, June 11.—Last evening a party consisting of Hon. J. K. Luttrell, Congressman elect from the Third District; Judge Steele, Sheriff Morgan, J. S. Matthews, E. H. Antrick, and Masters Luttrell and Matthews arrived here. Messrs. Suttrell and Steele came for the purpose of inquiring into Indian affairs. The rest of the party were on business and pleasure combined.

This morning Capt. Jack, Scar-faced Charley, Boston Charley, Schonchin, Mose Williams, Princess Mary and Lizzie were escorted to the office tent under a corporal's guard, so that Judge Steele might talk with them and gain such information as might throw light upon certain acts which are now enshrouded in mystery. Jack, Schonches, Boston, and Mose were in chains. The others were loose. The captives formed the usual semi-circle in the tent.

Jack had an ugly, sullen look, apparently displeased at being brought forth for a talk. The dark lines about his eyes, which are bright and glittering, indicate that the confinement, even in the large, airy tent, is beginning to wear him. Restriction of his liberty has a greater effect upon him than the suspense about his future fate. Only a few days since he told the officer in charge of the prisoners that his Indian heart was dead and his body cold. All that he wished was that Lizzie, his favorite squaw, might be allowed to sit beside him. The request was granted, and the squaw came to him.

During the interview he and Schonches sat on a dry-goods box, and Lizzie squatted at their feet. Judge Steele shook hands with the Indians and said he was glad to meet them. Jack was the only one who removed his hat. Scar-face Charley was called to the front to act as interpreter. Judge Steele said he regretted to see that the Indians had not followed his advice and behaved themselves. He was sorry to find them in such a bad fix, but he had come to have a talk, and he wanted nothing but the truth. Then followed questions about the disposition of the property of the Modocs' victims; but little satisfaction was obtained. At first the Indians denied any knowledge of Dr. Thomas, or of Lieut. Cranston's ring.

They told different stories, and referred the Judge to Hooker Jim, Shack Nasty Jim, and Steamboat Frank, desiring to implicate those three worthies as much as possible. Jack's people hate the two Jims and Frank on account of their treachery. They have threatened to kill them or have them killed, even if it takes years to accomplish the job. Boston Charley said that the Indians placed the watch under a rock, and that the ring was burned after the battle at Dry Lake. It was burned with Ellen's Man and his property. After half an hour's talk, Judge Steele told them that unless they stated where they had cached away the army guns, and gave up the watch and ring, he would abandon them to their fate, and not try to get the ear of the Tyhee Davis. The Indians have until to-morrow to consider the matter.

Judge Steele, Mr. Luttrell, Master Luttrell, Mr. Fairchild, Dr. Cabenass, and two others, leave for home to-morrow via the lava bed. Their route through the lava bed may possibly lead to the capture of Millers Charley, the lucky warrior, and his squaw, who are thought to be living in the lava bed.

BEFORE JACK'S CAPTURE.

The Preliminary Arrangements—The Story of a Shell—An Indian Bath.

From Our Special Correspondent.

HEAD-QUARTERS MODOC EXPEDITION, FAIRCHILD'S RANCH, Cal., Friday, May 30, 1873.

We have word from the troops now in the field that leads us to expect at any time news of a battle. Gen. Davis and his company reached Boyle's Camp, east of Tule Lake, on Monday, and the four Modoc renegades were sent out on Tuesday to hunt for Capt. Jack. They seem to have had a definite idea of his whereabouts, and to have found him without difficulty. The next morning they returned to Applegate's Ranch, on Clear Lake, distant eight miles from the Island, where Boyles' Camp and the hospitals are located, east of the lava beds on Tule Lake, and reported that they had found Capt. Jack and twenty-five other Modoc warriors, intrenched in the natural fastnesses of a rocky cañon, at the head of Willow Creek, which empties into Clear Lake from the east; that they had a talk with the great Modoc chieftain, but that he peremptorily refused all propositions for surrender, and declared that when the troops came there after him he was determined to fight them. This story agrees with his declaration made when the now captive Modocs left him, as they said, after their surrender, that Jack had twenty-five men with him, and that he declared his intention to die fighting, with his gun in his hand. They also said he denounced them as cowards for abandoning him, and threatened that if he ever caught them in his camp again he would certainly kill them. So they said. But that part of his promise was not kept. It would have maintained the completeness of his record as an Indian hero if he had lived strictly up to his threat, and offered up Bogus Charley, Hooker Jim, Schack Nasty Jim, and Steam-boat Frank as a sacrifice to his Indian gods; but, perhaps, he was not posted as to their abject surrender and treachery toward himself in tendering their services to his enemies. All these fellows are as subtle as treacherous, and they may have approached Jack with professions of continual friendship and secured a talk with him on grounds and under circumstances that made it impossible for him to execute his threat for their destruction.

It seems that Gen. Davis was awaiting their return at Applegate's Ranch, on Clear Lake, which was distant only ten miles from Jack's new stronghold. The renegades returned there with their report, and Bogus Charley was sent back to Boyle's Camp with instructions for the movement of the troops. He reached there toward evening, and the squadrons under command of Capts. Jackson and Hasbrouck, numbering each 100 cavalry or mounted artillery, and twenty Warm Springs Indians, were immediately got ready and took the field the next morning, (Thursday, May 29,) at earliest dawn, in search of the last Modoc stronghold. If Capt. Jack held his ground, and waited for their arrival, they must have had a fight on yesterday, and with the Modoc renegades as scouts they would have had no difficulty in approaching the hostile Modoc quarters, always supposing that the aforesaid regenades were acting on the square, of which there will ever be reasonable room for doubt. The Modoc situation is always full of the most startling possibilities, and we await news with mingled interest and impatience. It is entirely possible that Capt. Jack will elude his pursuers, if he desires to do so, and be again heard of as intrenched in some inaccessible portion of the extensive lava beds, an infernal region where his Mephistophelian genius has full sway, and from which he is very careful not to remove further than a day's journey. The surrendered Modocs say they consider the lava beds their best fighting ground, and add: "What for we leave there if we want to fight? That's the best fighting place there is." Capt. Penny's squadron had not reached the island when the others took the road for Clear Lake, but was probably met and turned in the same direction.

Considerable has been said about a shell that was picked up by the Modocs in the lava beds and exploded as they were attempting to put out the fuse. The true story of that, as told by prisoners, is that they found the shell with the fuse gone out, and undertook to get the powder out of it: for this purpose they drove a nail into the fuse hole, and were much astonished to have the shell explode while thus prosecuting their scientific researches. They have not yet discovered how the shell came to explode without the application of fire. Those who were immediately prosecuting the inquiry never had time to make any remarks, as the explosion not only took their breath away, but also took the tops of their heads off and otherwise mangled their remains. The Modocs will in future endeavor to fortify themselves in places where howitzers and mortars cannot get into convenient range, as they have acquired a wholesome dread of such terror-striking warfare.

It is said that this shell experiment proved the death of two Modoc warriors; that two more were killed in the last skirmish, (when they were wanting to surrender, and made no fight back,) and that only eight have been killed in all, including these four. To be sure, war bulletins counted up scores, but Donald McKay's account and that given by the Modoc prisoners agree, and I am inclined to accept them as reliable. This result figures up a very one-sided warfare, and yet there is nothing surprising in it if one understands that Modoc generalship has been of the highest order, and that the conditions of battle have always been prescribed by Capt. Jack himself, and that too with the most intimate knowledge of the wonderfully defensive region he and his braves have occupied. No such theatre of war was ever known before, and the contest has, therefore, entirely baffled the first efforts of experienced Indian fighters. I do not include Gen. Gillem in the list, for he had no such experience, and his management of the war seems to have left no favorable impression either among the officers or men, and is a standing jest with all civilians; but Gen. Wheaton has had plenty of Indian experience, as he was, when, a mere lad, engaged in the surveys extended through Arizona and New-Mexico, and four years before he was a soldier skirmishing among the Apaches. His first effort was thwarted, and his second would undoubtedly have been more successful had he been allowed to use the knowledge and experience thus gained. Col. Mason has also had Indian war experience, and his officers and men have great confidence in him. But a new man had to be sent here fresh from the parade-ground at Benicia, with not a particle of experience in Indian warfare, and the consequence has been disaster after disaster; and at last he leaves the field worse than he found it. Most of the laurels have been gathered by Capt. Jack. The only mementoes of this bad management that can be found here are the head-boards that mark the dead soldiers' last lava bed, and widows and orphans elsewhere weep at the very mention of Modoc war. Every officer who has fallen seems to have left wife and child, and not a single commissioned officer remains alive of the command that was immolated upon the altar of Modoc war when Major Thomas made his unhappy reconnoisance in force. How sudden that tragedy was may be gathered from the fact that Thomas' command were grouped around, taking their lunch, and the flag signals were actually being made to telegraph the word back to camp that there was not a Modoc in sight when the Modoc surprise took place. It is perhaps not always competent for a civilian to criticise army movements, but the results will surely criticise them, and it is easy to believe that the efficiency and energy of present movements will soon wear out Modoc patience, and that even though success without considerable loss is not to be expected, success must soon attend the present organization and disposition of our forces, though the end may be delayed for months, for it is easy for Capt. Jack to shift his ground, and with his small force continue for some time to evade pursuit.

I want to settle one question: the old war-chief Sconchis is not dead, and never was even wounded that I can learn. Meacham fired at but did not hit him; no shell ever used him up; no bullet ever popped him over. He still lives, as last accounts declare, and we may as well bring him handsomely to life, and leave him to fight it out. That gory head, which was pickled and sent East to the War Department, did not belong to him, and if it did he is doing amazingly well without it. The head sent East is that of a young man. Sconches, surnamed John, is, or was, an old fellow who had climbed up the Modoc ladder to threescore and ten rounds. It may be barely possible that his son was killed by some accident of war, and that his head was sent East in pickle. It will be charitable to concede that much.

There is a band of peaceable Modocs who live near here, on an island, so called, being a projection of land that invades the waters of Little Klamath Lake, and is separated from the main shore by a slough. Old Modoc Sheepy lives there, and also his son, Tom, a good-looking Indian of about legal age, tall and well-formed. Old Sheepy and Tom have their respective wives—one apiece—and the old man has grown-up daughters. There are also two old men and sundry young women and old squaws, and a miscellaneous lot of children, all of whom amount to a score or over in number. Also, among the women, are to be counted the historic women of the war—One-eyed Dixie and Artena Chokas—and not so historic, and yet younger and better-looking than either, is Artena's youngest sister, nicknamed "Fatty," one of the most seductive of the Modoc belles. These three women ride over to head-quarters each day, and vary their existence by washing for officers and others. Their price is $2 a dozen, and no ironing is included. Those women are not remarkable for virtue, and share the joys of existence—such as they are—with certain whites who have come to be contented residents of this region. They absorb the earnings of such as are willing to consort with them, and as a consequence they appear on horseback, and are clothed with such semblance of civilization as lives of prostitution would teach them to appreciate.

Old Sheepy, himself, is pronounced to be a good and reliable Indian. He lives on land claimed by Dorris, who speaks well of him. He owns quite a band of Indian ponies, has a boat in which he ventures eight or ten miles out in Little Klamath Lake and catches fish. He hunts for water-fowl with his bow and arrows, for in their war times he is not allowed to carry a gun, and with ducks, geese, and swan, he ekes out an existence, the women in the meantime having provided an abundance of apaw roots, camas roots, and other esculents for family use. These roots are very palatable. I have tried the apaw roots raw, and found them much like an artichoke. They are a small bulb, readily obtained, and offer a wholesome variety to Indian fare. At the present time Sheepy's Ranch is a rendezvous for disaffected Modocs. I mean those disaffected against Capt. Jack, who have tired of war, its spoils and its dangers, and are willing to retire and recline on their laurels, eating bread and meat in the camp of their enemies and at their expense. At the present time some four or five of these fellows are negotiating carefully for peace. One of them is supposed to be Boston, who killed Rev. Mr. Thomas. Sheepy does what he can to facilitate their surrender, and the squaws Dixie and Artena frequently have acted as peace commissioners, and that too, without much hope of reward. With habitual caution they hang off and hesitate to surrender, but Sheepy intimates that they will come in soon.

A few days since the Curly-headed Doctor asked permission to set up a sweating establishment. The prisoners built a wickia about seven or eight feet in diameter, over a place scooped out for the purpose; they covered the frame-work of willows with blankets and coats half a dozen thick, to retain the steam; and having prepared a quantity of heated rocks, these were piled in the centre and water was poured on them, creating steam enough to run a small-power engine. Then the Doctor stripped to his pants and entered, kicking his pants out under the cover. Men and women followed his example the women retaining a single garment, which was kicked out after their entrance, though I presume this pretense of modesty was entirely due to the presence of the handsome Lieutenant and his guards. About a dozen of either sex were thus piled in naked under the blankets, heaped up about the steaming centre, which was continually fed with more water to produce abundance of steam. Coming out of the bath-house naked they rolled up in blankets and sweated in the sun. This process was continued until all the adults had a bath that wished it. The Curley-headed Doctor remained in the sweat-house an hour and fifteen minutes by the clock. They say they are in the habit of indulging in this luxury daily. It is a provocative of cleanliness to be sure, and they may need it that often, but it must be difficult for medical science to determine that so thorough and steaming a renovation can be wholesome in all stages of climate.

I rode yesterday to Van Bremer's Ranch, seven miles toward the seat of war. The three brothers occupy it all alone and depend upon a block-house provided with loop-holes for safety. Twelve miles beyond them commences the lava bed, and no settlement lies between them and the hostile Modoc forces. I don't envy them their enjoyment of life under such circumstances, but they have their place and stock to look after, and interest binds them there. The place lies under the shadow of a bold butte, named Van Bremer's Mountain, and through the universal wilderness of giant sage brush a creek threads its emerald way, meandering in very wantonness, turning back, and doubling upon itself almost, and so creating a swale of meadow land that grows green as an oasis in Saharah. On the rising ground above the dwelling stands the only monument left in this wilderness to speak of the honored and lamented Canby, and to tell of the tragedy that ended the Peace Commission farce. It is a stone fire-place and chimney that adjoined his Winter quarters that now stand alone to tell his fate. Before I leave here I hope to see another monument rise to mark the spot where he fell—a gallows that shall be built upon the scene of Modoc treachery, and on which shall swing the perfidious carcass of Capt. Jack. Let such a wind-up of Modoc treachery take place, and no Modoc will ever again haunt the lava beds. It is characteristic of the race that no such ghastly scene is ever revisited by them.

The Modoc campaign is not without its humorous features. In the field here they are sometimes absorbed by active movements, but throughout the United States they are manifested in the public journals, in illustrations, squibs, and sharp satires. Each mail brings also to camp an extensive correspondence for Capt. Jack, and occasional notes and postal-cards addressed to Sconchin and Scar-faced Charley. It is surprising to see how much folly is wasted in this way, the new postal-cards being the favorite mode of address. The Quartermaster is accumulating a small museum of such contraband literature, and it is rather amusing to read the assortment of ideas. One wishes Jack to come there and scalp the fellow who wants to win his girl away from him; another assures him that he can get plenty of volunteers if he will come to that village; still again he is congratulated on his heroism, and told to go on and conquer. Business cards, congratulations, good advice, and fun are forwarded as regularly by mail as any other matter, and the extent to which it is carried shows to what degree the sensational element prevails among young people. While I am writing this a courier has arrived with a fresh installment of Capt. Jack's extensive correspondence.

To come down to practical matters, it strikes me as rather rough on the officers of this expedition that they are not offered a little more than the ordinary inducements in greenbacks for their expensive and hazardous service. It is really remarkable how many of them are men of family; they are in the field under circumstances that entail more than usual expense, and have their families elsewhere to maintain and provide for. It is said that many more lieutenants are married men nowadays than was the case formerly, and certainly men who serve their country on the frontiers should not be debarred from common happiness by want of the pittance whereon to subsist. It is generally more expensive to live on this coast than elsewhere, and the pay of officers here should, at least, be made in coin, as that is the currency common to this country.

I am informed that the question as to whether pay on the Pacific slope should be made in coin, was once submitted to Gen. Halleck, and his reply was that he did not consider it necessary or advisable. He was not situated so as to fully appreciate the condition of most of the officers, because he possessed a fortune that made the amount of his pay immaterial; but it is certainly true that a family cannot be subsisted at any of the frontier posts of any of the Pacific States or Territories on the same pay that will answer well enough at the East. It would afford considerable relief to make that payment in coin, for now officers and men have to convert their pay from currency to coin, at a large sacrifice, before they can make it available.

A Negro Hanged Twice.

PARIS, Ky., June 13.—Joe Duncan, colored, was hanged here to-day for the murder of John Hawkins, also colored, in April, 1872. The scene of the execution was half a mile from here. The drop was sprung at 1 o'clock, and Duncan fell, but the rope being too loose he was taken up on the scaffold and hung again, this time successfully. A large crowd was present.

FRANCE.

A Prophecy Realized—The Political Situation—American Newspapers in the Courts.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PARIS, Friday, May 30, 1873.

It is not improbable that prophecy may receive a fresh impulse from certain occurrences of the present year. For once, even though far less mystical than usual, Zadkiel's Almanac has shown itself correct in the main. Recent events in France, too, have recalled in a most striking manner the prediction sent to Pius IX. some time ago, and which appeared in the Italian journals of the day. At one of his audiences, in the early part of April last, his Holiness remarked that he had received a letter which had astonished him, and which contained an account of a supernatural revelation which had made a profound impression upon his mind. The writer prophesied—upon what celestial authority I cannot now recall—the downfall of two very great personages between the two Notre Dames. These fête days occur on the 25th of March and 25th of May. With a quiet smile, as if to convince these about him that he did not put much faith in such revelations, his Holiness added: "Amadeo has been the first, but who will be the next?" M. Thiers fell on the 24th of May, just twenty-four hours before the time within which the prophecy should have been accomplished, and King Amadeus fell at its very beginning. There are other details in the letter. Rumor says that there was a further prediction regarding the life of the Pope himself, which, under the peculiar circumstances of the case, may have proven consoling to him in his recent illness. At any rate, his Holiness was so well convinced that his day of departure had not come that he refused to set the Vatican in order, and resolutely resisted the efforts of the Cardinals to get his signature to documents regarding the Pontifical succession. Although this is the most striking of recent prophecies, it by no means stands alone, for political predictions unknown to fame before their accomplishment, are now claimed in every direction. A majority of the German papers assert that they have long prophesied the fall of M. Thiers, and are very eager to declare that it served him right. On the other hand, the predictions of the semi-official French journals have been singularly belied, for they had revelations which gave the assurance that the fall of M. Thiers would not be favorably received in Germany. From this we may reasonably conclude that it is not every man who has the gift of prophecy.

FRANCO-GERMAN RELATIONS.

The appreciation of these changes which come from over the Rhine are unanimous, I believe, in recognizing that France has lost nothing, and that Germany has everything to gain by being assured that order will be maintained. President MacMahon sent an autograph letter to the Emperor William to assure his Majesty that all contracts hitherto made would be scrupulously kept, the war indemnity punctually paid, and the policy of the previous Government, in all things affecting the relations of the two countries, faithfully maintained. The supposed organ of Prince Bismarck notices the only point which has thus far given rise to hesitation. The presumed religious sentiments and feelings of the present majority have caused uneasiness in Italy, and in Germany it has given rise to some discussion, but the Provincial Correspondence says that it is highly improbable the present Government will allow the religious question to influence in any way the policy it has adopted. Of this there can be very little doubt, for every one must have observed that such questions belong entirely to the armory of the opposition, and are abandoned without any manner of difficulty when that opposition arrives at power. It was all very well for the Duc de Broglie to compromise M. de Rémusat upon these questions, if able to do so, but at the present moment he is not going to risk his own portfolio by any Quixotic interference in the affairs of the Pope. The religious question serves the Conservatives very much as "the rights of man and of labor" do the Radicals, and in reality one is just as vague as the other. Both, however, serve extremely well as padding to a speech directed against the Government; but neither is found tangible enough, or practical enough, when once a man has reached the office to which he aspired. Every one must have remarked how rapidly Gambetta grew conservative as he appeared to near the Presidential chair, and he grew so moderate with each victory of his party, that his speech at Nantes was decidedly conservative. The same phenomenon will be observed in the victorious majority of to-day, who will soon come down to the sober, practical details of Government, and forget that they ever held the views their adversaries attribute to them. I say "phenomenon," but, in point of fact, that is a mere figure of speech, for such demonstrations of the saying that "circumstances alter cases," are in the natural order of human events.

THE SITUATION.

The great battle between the two parties has already begun, but the Left is completely paralyzed by the attitude of the country. The strongest of the Radical journals, which made so bitter a war upon M. Thiers, now have nothing to say. They cannot deplore the fall of the man whose fall they tried so hard to bring about; nor can they cry that the Republic is in danger, for circumstances seem to have added great strength to that system of government. Marshal MacMahon says that the Republic exists, and that existing institutions will be maintained. M. Thiers frequently said that the Republic could not exist in France unless conservative, and a republic is publicly acknowledged as existing in the hands of the Conservatives. How is the Republic to be overthrown and a monarchy established? Beyond question the men of the four different parties who entered into the coalition to check the Radicals, did so with an arrière pensé; but a very small amount of reflection will serve to show that the liquidation of the affairs of this company must present unusual difficulties. They are absolutely unable to quarrel among themselves without being overthrown at once, and for the moment all monarchical hopes and dynastic preferences must be thrown aside. The final settlement must come from the people, and under MacMahon each party has an equal chance. Three parties have possession, so that no one party can confiscate the Administration to its own profit, and each will take very good care to see that it has its share of prefects, mayors, and other officials. Under these conditions the Republic is sure to win, if it be true, as the Republicans claim, that France has grown republican. My own belief is that France has no political opinion, whatever, and that a very large majority of the people are ready to vote with their prefects and mayors for any cause which can guarantee order. Since these officials are divided in the fairest possible manner, it is more than probable that the new Assembly will be pretty evenly balanced. The Bonapartists will make great gains, and will come in on terms of equality with the Legitimists and Orleanists, counterbalancing any efforts which may be made to elect Henri V., or the Comte de Paris. It seems to me, therefore, that the Republic is stronger than ever before, and that its success will depend upon the wisdom and moderation of the Republicans themselves. Perhaps some of my readers may remember that for two years I have expressed the opinion that the future would lie between the Empire and the Republic. This opinion was mainly due to the violence of the abuse heaped upon the Empire, for such things invariably end in a strong reaction. If the Imperialist Party is not yet as strong as the Republican, it has distanced the other two, and has won a prominent place in the Administration and in the Cabinet. In a very short time the eloquence of M. Rouher will be heard in the Chamber, and it is not improbable that Prince Napoleon may be elected to the new Assembly. Whatever may be said of this party in times past, no one can now complain of illegality, for the Bonapartists boldly placed their claims upon a vote of the nation, and have never ceased to say that they would abide by the decision of universal suffrage.

NEWSPAPERS IN THE COURTS.

During the past few days the tribunals of the Seine have been occupied with some singular cases, two or three of them revealing life dramas as interesting as any found in the pages of romance. The case of Mr. Bennett, arraigned for an alleged libel published in his paper in New-York, came up yesterday, and was adjourned until the 12th of June, on which day the appeal of the American Register, for the same offense, will be heard. A writ is also out for the proprietor of another journal, and it will be served upon him if found in France before the above trials are over. If judgment is given against the defendants, the writ will be held for him. I do not remember at this moment whether or not I have entered into the particulars of this case. It grew out of the Penniman affair. ASHBY.

THE CAR-BUILDERS.

Convention of Masters in Boston—The New-York Rooms.

BOSTON, Mass., June 13.—At the opening of the Master Car-builders' Convention to-day, Mr. Garey, the Secretary, called attention to the new rooms in New-York for the meeting of the members in that City. The rooms were opened in December last, and in it were placed the models of new inventions and improvements in cars. The rooms were made self-supporting by means of advertising railroad supplies.

Mr. Adams, of the Boston and Albany Railroad, moved that the association assume the control of the rooms and place them under a managing committee appointed by the officers of the association, with power to call meetings for discussion not ofetner than once in each month, and that C. A. Smith and M. N. Forney be added to the committee. The motion was carried.

Mr. Garey offered the following, which was adopted by a unanimous vote:

Whereas, It is thought that an impression prevails among the managers of some railroads that the action of this association is intended to be enforced by its members without the advice and consent of their superior officers; therefore,

Resolved, That it is the sense of this meeting that the resolutions of the master car-builders, in convention assembled, are intended merely as recommendations to the managers of railroads for their adoption or rejection, as they may think best.

M. N. Forney, of the Railroad Gazette, suggested that a committee should be appointed to investigate the cause of the many accidents resulting from coupling cars. The recurrence of these accidents was as frequent as it was painful, and it was a subject well worth investigation, with a view to lessen the number of accidents. In eight months he had collected 230 paragraphs from the papers referring to accidents of this nature, and this was, probably, not one-tenth of the number of accidents which had occurred in the country in the time given.

Mr. Davis, of the Boston, Lowell and Nashua Railroad, moved that a committee be appointed to consider and report on this matter at the next convention.

The special assignment, the size of axles, was then taken up and considered.

The convention, after a long discussion, adopted the report of the committee recommending a journal 3¾ inches in diameter by 7 inches long. Axles were also considered, and a vote was taken to have drawings and specifications prepared of the axles. Adopted.

Cotton-Seizure Case in Boston.

BOSTON, Mass., June 13.—In the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Shepley, the case of Gazoway B. Lamar, of New-York, vs. Albert G. Browne and others, was commenced. The ground of action is that the plaintiff claims that in January, 1866, the defendants, Albert G. Browne, of Salem; Albert G. Browne, Jr., of Cambridge, and Wm. A. Beard, of New-Bedford, seized 1,800 bales of cotton, of the value of $500,000, in Georgia; that the same was illegally taken, and that although the defendants have often been requested to return the same, they have refused to do so.

The defendants, in answer, claim that they seized the cotton as special Treasury agents of the Government, and as such disposed of it, and paid the proceeds into the hands of the Government, and are, therefore, not responsible. In support of this defense the legal officials of the United States appear as counsel. B. F. Butler and G. A. Somerly for plaintiff.

The "Countess" Antonio Oetel and Her Dupe.

During the Franco-Prussian war, a lady took lodgings at No. 106 Magnolia-street, Brooklyn, and subsequently became a boarder with the family of the house. It does not appear that the arrival of the lady at Magnolia-street was heralded by any extraordinary display, her sole impedimenta being a band-box and an ancient umbrella. With that delicate instinct of true nobility, and the utter disregard for vulgar display so characteristic of the haute noblesse, did this distinguished lady—the Countess Antonio Oetel—present herself at the door of No. 106 Magnolia-street. The presence in the neighborhood of so distinguished a person could not be concealed, and soon the name, style, title, and dignity of the visitor became whispered abroad. The Countess became the centre of local attraction, and had around her a small court of the local autocrats. Among the worshipers at her shrine was a Mr. William Schnieder, a worthy man, having no doubt a profound reverence for a long pedigree and a coat of many charges. He listened, awestruck, to the history of the house of Oetel, as related by the Countess. The family dated from the most remote antiquity—almost antediluvian. Its heroes were enshrined in the Walhalla, and lived in the sagas of the Scaldes. A branch conquered Tartary—Yenghis Khan was a scion of the family, and all the Khans of the land are of the same blood. Innspruck was the chief seat of the Oetels in Europe, and the hospitable Counts of Caberet and Auberge were of the house. The ouiar hotels are an offshot of the ancient family tree, and are largely patronized by the distinguished relations of the Countess. Schnieder was annihilated, and he longed to place his life at her disposal. The husband of the Countess occupied a distinguished position in the Prussian Army, but had the irreparable misfortune to get killed. A sum of 18,000 thalers was voted by the sorrowing Empire to the bereaved Countess, as a small compensation for the loss of her dear lord. As it often happens with persons in exalted positions, the Countess became short of money, and the need was gently hinted to Schnieder. Touched with her immense condescension, he ventured to prefer an humble request to her nobleness, &c., &c., and prevailed on her ladyship to accept the poor sum of $347. And afterward it came to pass that Schnieder wanted money. The Countess produced a letter from the Department of the Interior of the Empire, begging her to excuse the department for the delay, and promising a speedy remittance, &c.

Finale: "Justice Semmler yesterday committed Antonio Oetel to jail, to await the action of the Grand Jury, on the charge of swindling Mr. Schnieder out of $347 by means of forged letters, &c."

The Court of Appeals—The Entire Calendar Cleared.

ALBANY, N. Y., June 13.—The Court of Appeals adjourned yesterday to meet again on the 23d of September next, having accomplished what has never before been done by our highest court since its organization. It sat continuously, with short intermissions, until yesterday, and cleared the entire calendar. A new calendar will be made out for the September term.

The Presidency of the Chicago and North-western Railroad.

CHICAGO, June 13.—John F. Tracy has tendered his resignation as President of the Chicago and North-western Railroad, and will confine himself to his duties as President of the Rock Island Road, retaining his directorship in the North-western. His resignation will probably be accepted, and his successor appointed at the meeting of the full Board of Directors in New-York next Thursday. Mr. J. L. Tenbave, of Amsterdam, who represents the Dutch stock-holders of the North-western Road, is now in this city.

THE WEATHER.

Synopsis and Probabilities.

WASHINGTON, June 14—1 A. M.—The barometer is now highest over the New-England coast; it has fallen from the Gulf to the lakes, being lowest over the upper-lake region; rain areas have been reported from the South Atlantic and Gulf States, the upper lake region, and from Tennessee to Indian Territory, Kansas, Missouri, and Southern Illinois; clear or partly cloudy weather has prevailed over the New-England and Middle States and lower lake region, with winds veering to easterly and southerly, and over the northwest, with light to fresh variable winds. The temperature has risen from Illinois and Southern Wisconsin eastward over the lower lake region to Vermont.

PROBABILITIES.

For New-England falling barometer, gentle and fresh south-easterly to south-westerly winds and rising temperature with increasing cloudiness are probable; for the Middle States fresh easterly and southerly winds, rising temperature, and increasing cloudiness, with probable rain areas; for the lower lake region winds veering to fresh south-westerly and north-westerly, cloudy weather and rain areas; from Kentucky and Missouri to the upper lakes light to fresh south-westerly and north-westerly winds and clear weather; for the north-west diminishing pressure easterly to southerly winds, and probably clear weather; for the South Atlantic and Gulf States light to fresh southerly and westerly winds, partly cloudy weather and rain areas; for Tennessee and Kentucky winds veering to westerly and clear weather. Midnight telegraphic reports from Florida, Texas, Michigan, Dakota, and the Pacific Coast are partly missing.

SIR GEORGE E. CARTIER.

Funeral of the Canadian Baronet at Montreal.

MONTREAL, June 13.—The funeral of the late Sir George E. Cartier, Baronet, took place to-day, and was one of the most imposing demonstrations of the kind that ever occurred in Canada. At 7 A. M. people began to assemble in the Champ de Mars, near the Palace de Justice, or Court-house, in which the body lay, and by 8 o'clock the streets were packed. At 8:30 the funeral-car came up in front of the colonnade of the Court-house, on Notre Dame-street. The car, a magnificent structure, is 22½ feet high, 19 feet long, and 10½ wide. It is composed of three parts—the first, or lower part, a raised platform draped in black cloth and velvet, trimmed with silver valencia, the cloth covering the wheels being plain black; the second, or middle part of the car is open, with columns at each end, on which rested the coffin, and above this is a dome, flanked with tufted black crosses and surmounted by a splendid silver cross. The car was drawn by eight coal black horses caparisoned in black, with a liveried groom at each bridle.

About 9 o'clock the coffin was taken down the long stairs of the Court-house and borne to the hearse. It was placed on the upper platform of the car. At that height it was on a level with the second story windows of the houses.

It took nearly an hour to get the immense procession in line according to the programme, but this was finally done in the following order: Military band, one company of infantry, District Deputy Adjutant General, Adjutant General and staff, bands of the literary and mechanic institutes, benevolent societies, working men's societies, other societies, and public bodies, civil service of Canada, Mayors and corporations of the different cities and their officers, council and members of the Corn Exchange, national societies, St. Jean Baptiste Society, of which the deceased Baronet was a member; the funeral car, the family, the members of the Privy Council of Canada, who are members of the Cabinet, as chief mourners; the members of the Privy Council who are not members of the Cabinet, the representative of the Governor General, the representatives of the Lieutenant Governors of the Provinces, the Executive Councils of the Provinces of Canada, the Speaker and members of the Senate, the Speaker and members of the House of Commons, the Speakers and members of the Legislatures of the several Provinces, the judiciary, foreign consuls, legal profession, medical profession, professors and pupils of universities and colleges, friends and citizens.

The Ministry was fully represented. The Senate was preceded by the Gold Mace, the President, Mr. Chauveau, and the clerks, who were in robes. The House of Commons was largely represented. There were deputations from thirty different towns and cities in Quebec and Ontario. The Governor General was represented by his Military Secretary, Col. Fletcher. The military also made a large display, four military bands having been stationed at regular intervals in the procession.

The march was through the principal streets of the eastern part of the city, which was profusely decorated, most of the houses bearing some insignia of mourning. The procession took an hour and fifteen minutes to pass the corner of St. Lawrence, Main, and Craig streets. It was 11:30 when it reached the Church of Notre Dame. The decorations of that superb edifice were in the finest taste. The altar was draped in black and silver trimmings. The columns were shrouded with black and white. Over the altar was a colossal silver cross. The long, double tiers of galleries were hung with festoons of black and white, and the windows were veiled with purple curtains.

The catafalque in the centre of the church was a monumental Gothic structure three stories high, and was all ablaze with tapers. It bore suitable devices and mottoes, and the arms of all the Provinces of the Dominion. Mass was sung by Mgr. Faber, brother-in-law of the deceased Baronet. The music was performed by two choirs, one in the organ loft, numbering 300 voices, and the other in the aisles of the sanctuary, numbering 100. The effect was very fine. All the imposing ceremonial of the Catholic Church was performed in the most solemn manner. At the close of the services the procession resumed its march, and proceeded to the cemetery.

LOSSES BY FIRE.

A fire on Wednesday night in Lawrence, Kansas, destroyed the store of Bullene & Co. Loss, $75,000; insurance, $50,000.

The extensive woolen-mills of Edward Brierly, at Milton Mills, N. H., with all of their contents, were destroyed by fire on Thursday. The loss is estimated at $75,000 or $100,000. They were insured for about $25,000. The fire caught in the upper story among some waste.

The steamer Mary McDonald was recently burned at Gilham's Landing, on the Missouri River, while en route from Kansas City to St. Louis. The steamer was owned by George G. E. Keith, of St. Louis, John H. Halloway, of Howell, Mich., and Durfee & Peck, of Leavenworth, and was valued at $21,000. She was insured for $14,000 in Cincinnati and Wheeling companies.

The fire on Commerce-street, Cincinnati, Ohio, yesterday morning, was in the heart of the wholesale houses. It occurred by the overturning of a dish containing solder against a can of benzine in a shed adjoining the store of Alexander McDonald & Co. The shed also contained tar and resin. The fire spread rapidly to the store of Mr. McDonald, injuring it to the extent of $2,500; insured in Marshal's Agencies. From thence the fire spread to No. 54 Front-street, occupied by G. Wentzke, injuring it to the extent of $1,000; insured in the Ætna $1,000, and Eureka, of Cincinnati, $500. The loss of Messrs. Caldwell & Graviner, printers, is $800; insured in the Enterprise, of Cincinnati, $1,000. Messrs. Andrews & Conklin, vinegar manufacturers, No. 56 Front-street, lost 500 barrels of vinegar, valued at $10,000, on which there is an insurance of $8,000 in the Enterprise, of Cincinnati. The fire next attacked No. 58 Front-street, occupied by Mr. Gunther, causing a loss of $10,000, on which there is an insurance of $2,500 in the American Fire, of Philadelphia; $2,500 in the Lorillard, of New-York; $3,000 in the Royal, of Liverpool; $1,500 in the Washington Fire, of Cincinnati; $5,000 in the Imperial, of London; $1,500 in the Buraga, of Cincinnati.

THE HORTON FORGERIES.

Full Particulars of the Case—The Career of the Accused—Over $75,000 Involved.

The account which appeared exclusively in THE TIMES yesterday, of the extensive and successful forgeries of J. H. Horton, formed a general topic of conversation in Wall-street throughout the day. The detectives were annoyed that THE TIMES had obtained information which they had made the most zealous efforts to keep to themselves. However, as the matter was no longer a secret, they yesterday disclosed many of the particulars relative to the forgery and its perpetrator which would not otherwise have come to light until the criminal had been captured. Parties from Philadelphia, who had transactions with Horton, seeing the account of his swindles in THE TIMES, came on to New-York and busied themselves during the day in ascertaining the facts of the swindle, and in forming plans for the capture of the forger. Although most of the bankers in Philadelphia, who had dealings with Horton, assert that they were not swindled by him, it is regarded as certain that some of them have been, or else they would not not be so anxious to effect his capture. It now turns out that Horton's nefarious operations had been planned for a long time previous to their execution, and that he went about the business with a method which would have covered even the Bank of England forgers with a glory among those of their own occupation.

Some six or eight years ago he appeared in Lancaster, Penn., unknown to the residents of that enterprising city, as if he had dropped from the sky, and avowed his intention of taking up his residence there. He never alluded to the place whence he came, nor to his previous occupation, except that he had a fortune, and sometimes dabbled in stocks. This was sufficient to satisfy the good people of Lancaster, as soon as it was ascertained that he paid his house rent promptly, and had a good bank account. The spectacle of a well-to-do American citizen, pitching his tent in their locality, was hailed with delight; and, although he did not go into society a great deal, his appearance was not unwelcome, especially as he was a good talker and helped out conversation when it grew dull. He had a wife and three children. Mr. Horton, to Lancaster eyes, was an eminently respectable man. It was noticed, but never commentde upon until after his recent departure, that he had a habit of staying up at night, like an owl, while his family were in bed and asleep, and that his occupation during the daytime was the same as that of his family in the night. He also, although urgently requested by his Lancaster acquaintances, would not allow his picture to be taken. This now goes to strengthen the opinion that he had the forgeries in contemplation for a long time; that he would not allow his picture to be taken, for fear that it would soon lead to his capture after the forgeries were discovered, and that his nocturnal pursuits were mostly those of the imitation of signatures. Horton seemed to enjoy the acquaintance of cashiers of banks and brokerage firms much more than that of other people, and did his best to obtain a good footing in their favor. It gradually came to the notice of these financial people that Horton was on good terms with banking-houses in New-York, and they consequently exercised less care in their dealings with him than they would otherwise have done. It is conjectured that banking firms in Lancaster must have been victimized long before the discoveries of yesterday, but it was only on the 24th of May last that the first nefarious operation, of which information is now at hand, dates. On that day Horton entered the office of Reed, McGrann & Co. and offered 200 shares of Reading stock in exchange for 200 shares of Pennsylvania Railroad stock, stating that he was "short" of the latter, and did not want to go into the market and purchase it. The exchange was effected, no suspicion whatever being excited. Then a little later he went to Reed, Henderson & Co., of Lancaster, and wished to make an exchange of a like nature. They were willing to do so, but when Horton presented a certificate for 200 shares of Reading stock they noticed that the "s" at the end of the word "shares" was wanting, and remarked it. Horton immediately took the certificate, saying that he would return it where it was obtained and ask for another in exchange. It was found that all of the certificates which he presented were raised from one share to 200 shares. The last exchange which Horton proposed was on Tuesday last, after which he left Lancaster and went to Philadelphia. On Wednesday he finished up his transactions in Philadelphia and came to New-York, with letters of credit for a large amount, as was stated in yesterday's TIMES.

It now appears that the firm of P. S. Peterson & Co., of Philadelphia, were fully protected in the transfers of money which they made to Osgood & Co., in New-York, for Horton, and consequently do not lose anything. The losses through the forgeries mainly fall upon the parties with whom Horton first did business. The detectives yesterday stated that these amount in the aggregate to at least $75,000, and that several firms have suffered losses whose names have not yet been made public.

The following circular was issued from Pinkerton's Detective Agency yesterday, addressed to bankers and brokers:

To bankers and brokers—A man named J. H. Horton to-day procured the following Treasury gold certificates, in payment for forged Philadelphia and Reading Railroad stock, viz.:

No. A 7,965 for	$5,000	No. A 23,507 for	$1,000
No. A 9,155 for	5,000	No. A 25,199 for	1,000
No. A 21,379 for	1,000	No. A 24,504 for	1,000
No. A 24,519 for	1,000	No. A 24,794 for	1,000
No. A 23,521 for	1,000	No. A 20,969 for	1,000
No. A 25,206 for	1,000	No. A 21,839 for	1,000

Should any of these gold certificates be presented to you, you will please advise the agency, using the telegraph, if necessary; and should the party presenting them not be of known responsibility, endeavor to cause his detention until legal action be taken. Horton, who uttered this forged stock, is a man about thirty-five years of age; five feet six or seven inches in height; stout built; weight about 180 pounds; flushed, florid complexion; heavy black mustache, cut short; short dark hair; slightly bald; short, thick neck; black eyes and eyebrows; wore a white straw hat with black band and drooping brim with black edging; light brown colored shirt, turned-down collar; his clothing appeared new.

As far as is known the detectives have not the slightest clue to the whereabouts of Horton, and it seems more than likely that he has escaped on one of the ocean steamers.

The Brinckley Divorce Case—Rebutting Testimony.

The divorce suit brought by Elizabeth Brinckley against Hugh L. Brinckley was continued, and the evidence concluded, before Judge Van Brunt, in Part II. of the Supreme Court, yesterday. In rebuttal to the testimony presented on behalf of defendant, to the effect that plaintiff bore in Memphis an unchaste character, several depositions were read from parties who knew her in Memphis, and who denied that her reputation was that of unchastity until about the time differences arose between her and defendant.

Plaintiff was again placed on the stand, and contradicted a large portion of the testimony of witnesses for the defense, excepting, however, her admission to defendant's father that she was not married to defendant. This, she said, she did at defendant's request.

The case was submitted without argument, and decision reserved.

The Adams Murder—The Inquest Yesterday.

Coroner Reinhardt, of Jersey City, yesterday afternoon commenced an inquest on the body of John Adams Kane, commonly known as John Adams, who was shot by Nathan Britton at the Greene-street crossing of the Pennsylvania Railroad, on Tuesday night. The examination was held at the Rink on Montgomery-street, and the room was crowded with spectators. The mother, brother, uncle, and other relatives of Britten, and the wife of Adams were present, together with a large number of railroad employes. The prisoner, Nathan Britton, a young man of less than twenty years, sat in one corner with William F. Howe, of New-York, his counsel, and sobbed throughout the entire investigation. John McCann, whom Britton had threatened to kill, was the first witness. He testified that the prisoner had refused to work in the Union Yard, and had quit work. On coming for his pay the check was made in the name of T. Britton, and the prisoner refused to sign the roll anything but Nathan Britton. Some words were had, but the prisoner did not threaten witness in his presence. McCann had seen nothing of the shooting, but hearing of it had ordered Clothier to arrest Britton, and had cared for Adams as well as possible.

Dr. Buck, who made the post-mortem examination, identified the bullet taken from the body, and testified to the character of the wound, and that death had resulted from internal hemorrhage caused by the ball.

James Clothier testified that he had had some trouble with the prisoner relative to working in the Union Yard, and he had demanded his "time," which witness refused to give until Britton had complied with the regulations of the office. Britton had threatened to shoot him, and a shot was fired during the melée, and Adams fell. Witness did not see Britton fire the shot, however. He had taken it for granted that he had done so, and had arrested him and delivered him to the officers.

None of the witnesses, thus far examined, have been able to testify that Britton did the shooting. The examination was adjourned until Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

SENATOR MITCHELL.

The Charges Against Him—Frank Statement to the People of Oregon.

We reproduce below, from the Portland (Oregon) Bulletin of the 2d inst., the card of Senator Mitchell, of that State, to the people, respecting certain charges against himself which have appeared in many Eastern papers, and have been copied thence into journals on the Pacific Coast. The following is the card:

To the People of Oregon:

Inasmuch as certain articles have appeared in newspapers of recent dates, reflecting in serious terms on my conduct in my native State (Pennsylvania) in early life, I submit to the people of Oregon, who have known me intimately for thirteen years, the following statement and evidence in answer to the charges made in such articles.

In so far as the charges, first put in circulation by an anonymous correspondent, impute to me any dishonest act, I deny them, and each and all of them, positively, unequivocally, and absolutely, and pronounce them, and each of them, wholly false. And I submit to the people of Oregon that, though it is a fact that I had my misfortunes in early life, and encountered domestic troubles of painful character, resulting in separation and divorce—troubles which I trust your generous indulgence will permit me to pass in silence—it is my privilege to be able to say that in all the time that I resided in Pennsylvania I committed no wrong, nor did any act that has ever lost to me the confidence or esteem either of my former law partner there, Col. John M. Thompson, whom the articles in question charge me with wronging, or of any one who had the intimate knowledge of my history that he had; and so far as all the charges against me are concerned, I prefer, rather than giving my own version, to abide by the testimony herewith submitted, coming, as it does, from men of prominent position and unimpeachable integrity, most of whom know personally my whole history in Pennsylvania from earliest boyhood, and all of whom have full knowledge of my reputation there now.

Any charge or pretense that I ever wronged my former partner, Col. Thompson, or any other man in Pennsylvania or elsewhere, out of one cent or any amount whatever, or ever attemptedto do so, is untrue. That I ever had any difference or difficulty with that gentleman, as charged, or in any manner or for any reason, is equally false. On the contrary, I have always had, and still have, his confidence and respect.

It is true that at the time I left Pennsylvania the law firm, of which Col. Thompson and myself were the only members, had an unsettled business, including an amount of outstanding accounts in which I had one-half interest. The firm was also indebted in certain amounts. Before leaving the State, I transferred to my partner all my interest in said firm, together with certain other property, which at the time was believed to be amply sufficient to meet all demands; and the whole business was settled up to the full and complete satisfaction, not only of my said partner, but of all other persons, and without the loss of one cent to any one. In the settlement of this business and sale of property, a deficiency existed of a few hundred dollars, which I subsequently paid; and in support of the statement here made, as well as in evidence of the confidence in which I am held to-day by my old friends and acquaintances in Pennsylvania, I herewith submit a dispatch, received by me on the 27th inst., from said law partner:

BUTLER, Penn., May 27, 1873.

To John H. Mitchell, United States Senator:

No man in Pennsylvania ever lost a cent by you. Every cent was paid in full. You have and deserve the confidence and good will of every man who knows you. Fear nothing from this State. Your friends will not desert you while they know the whole truth of the case. Your record here is all right. Call on me in any way you think proper.

JOHN M. THOMPSON.

Without conceding that it is the right of any man to demand that I should lay my domestic affairs before the world, I simply state that misfortune in respect to these relations was the sole cause of my course in leaving my native State, and I aver that I was and am justified, not only in my own mind in the course I pursued, but also, so far as I am aware, in the opinion of all candid persons well acquainted with the facts. As an evidence of the truth of what I say, and as a further vindication of my character for integrity in relation to the matters charged, I herewith submit a telegram from Hon. Samuel A. Purviance, of Pittsburg, Penn., for several years a member of Congress from that State, and at present a member of the Constitutional Convention now in session in Philadelphia, a gentleman who has known me intimately from childhood and is familiar with my whole history in Pennsylvania, and whose integrity will not be questioned by any man who knows him:

PHILADELPHIA, Penn., May 27, 1873.

To John H. Mitchell:

In leaving Pennsylvania it was not alleged, I believe, that you were indebted to any one but your Pennsylvania law partner, Col. John M. Thompson, and I know the fact from Col. Thompson himself that you do not owe him anything; and further, that your relations with him continue to be of a most harmonious character. I believe that no man in Pennsylvania ever lost a dollar in consequence of your leaving the State. The cause of your leaving the State was well understood to be to get rid of trouble of an entirely domestic nature.

SAMUEL A. PURVIANCE.

I also herewith submit the following from a letter addressed to me at Washington City, dated at Pittsburg, Penn., April 1, 1873, and written by Hon. Samuel A. Purviance:

If you should need any certificates of your standing before you left Butler you can have them, as your course was universally justified by every one. Yours truly,

SAMUEL A. PURVIANCE.

Owing solely to domestic troubles, seeking at that time only obscurity, and hoping that I might be forever separated from some of the memories of the past, but having committed no wrong act to be concealed, neither contemplating the commission of any, I, in my then perturbed state of mind, decided to be known and called thereafter by my mother's maiden name, Mitchell, which was my middle name by baptism. This I frankly concede was an indiscreet, ill-advised, and injudicious act; a great blunder, a foolish mistake. I offer for it no excuse save my inexperience in the world, and a great desire to separate myself, as far as possible, from a past that was, and is, inexpressibly painful. It was a violation of the conventionalities of life for which I would gladly atone by a life's labor. It is not, however, in contravention of any public law. The act at once became irretrievable. I leave it to others to judge whether thus yielding to the misdirection of a perturbed mind, in days of dejection and sorrow, is a sin that years of honorable effort in the walks of daily life cannot atone.

Herewith I print a dispatch from Winfield S. Purviance, Esq., a member of the Pittsburg Bar at present, formerly a resident of Butler, Penn., a gentleman whose integrity cannot be questioned. He has known me from boyhood, and is familiar with my history and present reputation in Pennsylvania:

PITTSBURG, Penn., May 27, 1873.

To Hon. John H. Mitchell, Portland, Oregon:

Your character before you left Pennsylvania was unexceptionable, and I never yet heard it doubted but that you were perfectly justified in leaving as you did. The allegation of absconding with money is and was false.

W. S. PURVIANCE.

I also herewith present a dispatch sent me by Hon. Simon Cameron, United States Senator from Pennsylvania, who has full knowledge of my history in that State, and of my standing there now:

HARRISBURG, Penn., May 27, 1873.

To Hon. John H. Mitchell, United States Senator, Portland, Oregon:

When you left Pennsylvania your reputation was as good as any public man's in your county. All who knew you speak now in high terms of your integrity and purity of character, and feel honored by your election to the Senate—in all of which I join.

SIMON CAMERON.

I was born in Washington County, Pennsylvania, June 22, 1835; I was educated at Witherspoon Institute, Pennsylvania; studied law with the law firm of Purviance & Thompson, composed of Hon. Samuel A. Purviance and Col. John M. Thompson, whose testimonials are herewith submitted.

In conclusion, I submit, upon considerations, not of sympathy, but of simple justice, whether, in the light of the statement and evidence here presented, and of my deportment among you for the past thirteen years, I am entitled to your future confidence and respect, or deserve your condemnation. I stand to-day strong in the full consciousness that in reference to the matters alleged I have been actuated by no evil intentions; and feeling and knowing that I have presented these matters in all truthfulness, with your judgment I shall remain content. Repectfully,

JOHN H. MITCHELL.

PORTLAND, Oregon, May 31, 1873.

Important to Importers—Decision in the United States Court.

In the case of A. Webber et al. against Augustus Schell, tried in the United States Circuit Court, Judge Blatchford yesterday decided that the question must be regarded as settled in this district that when a valid prospective protest against the payment of duties on a particular importation of merchandise, and expressing the intention of the importer that the protest shall apply to all further similar importations made by him, is valid as to subsequent importations of similar articles on which like duties are exacted.

National Rifle Association.

A meeting of the directors of the National Rifle Association will take place to-day at Creedmore, when the final preparations for the opening will be made. The following regiments have each selected twelve men to compete in the National Guard Match: Twenty-third Regiment, New-York; Second Regiment, New-Jersey; Twenty-second Regiment, New-York; Second Battalion, New-Jersey; Thirteenth Regiment, New-York; Thirty-second Regiment, New-York; Engineers, United States Army; Ninth Regiment, New-Jersey; Ninth Regiment, New-York, and Seventh Regiment, New-York.

GENERAL NOTES.

Boston now has fifty-three national banks.

The Maine temperance reform clubs have determined to start a newspaper to advocate their views.

Rev. Mr. Alger's Music Hall Society in Boston is in danger of disbanding on account of a lack of funds.

Meetings have been held in Baltimore to arrange for free excursions for the poor children of that city.

By a single letter a gentleman in Terre Haute, Ind., learned a few days ago of the death of four of his brothers.

A religious paper commends Arctic Expeditions, because of the value of the examples of character thus given.

An Iowa man left his property to his wife on condition that she should not marry again. She married a Loss, and clings to the bequest.

An Indiana woman, whose husband was killed on a railroad while drunk, has obtained $8,000 damages from the man who sold him the liquor.

The Baltimore police force have been supplied with nice warm flannel caps for Summer wear, and are inconsiderate enough to complain.

The mean fellow who robs blind men operated in Sparta, Wis., one day last week, knocking down a helpless man and stealing $200 from him.

The Massachusetts Legislative Committee on Prisons reports that the only occupants found in the Nantucket Jail were a few hens and a rooster.

Massachusetts fishermen live mainly on fish, salt pork, potatoes, and hard bread, and they are said to be the healthiest class of people in the State.

Chicago proposes a monument to Col. Jas. A. Mulligan. But there is so much proposing of monuments to the brave in this land, and so little building!

A charming little girl in Massachusetts informed her father with much glee, on his return home the other evening, that she had had her head "Liverpooled."

Senator Ames has come North to bring his family for the Summer, on account of the illness of his little child, but he will himself return at once to Mississippi.

An Iowa grange has resolved that it will wage a war against railroads, "even to extermination, if need be." The iron evidently has entered those farmers' souls.

The St. Paul Press notes that all the candidates for nomination for Governor of Minnesota claim to be devoted friends of the people, and more especially of the farmers.

Iowa people do a great many funny things. The latest reported achievement is that of a young lady teacher in Ringgold County, who rides to school every morning on an ox.

Somebody asks if the Indianapolis Alderman, who was cured of all desire for tobacco by being thrown from his buggy, was killed by the accident. The question is an impertinence.

A California boy stumbled while running, and ran the stick of his umbrella through his neck, but is expected to recover, nevertheless. Well for him that that umbrella was not open.

Among the candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor of Minnesota are ex-Lieut. Gov. Thomas H. Armstrong, W. D. Washburn, Sherman Page, C. K. Davis, and John S. Pillsbury.

An Oregon paper blames its people for sending to California for butter and honey and potatoes, and tells them that they ought almost to drive California products out of the San Francisco market.

Mr. J. P. Thomas, after a year and a half's struggle, has been compelled to suspend the publication of the Columbia South Carolinian. It was an independent Democratic paper of the strictest sort.

So many of the county fairs in Kentucky were failures in their pecuniary results last year that very few will be held in the State this season. Some of the counties will combine and hold consolidated fairs.

A soldiers' monument will be dedicated at Meriden, Conn., on Wednesday next, June 18. Nearly all the Grand Army posts of the State with bands and military companies, are expected to take part in the exercises.

Congressman D. P. Lowe, of Kansas, has published a card denying that there is a particle of truth in the statement that he unlawfully obtained some $1,000 worth of groceries, &c., from the Government in Washington.

Two San Francisco men have been experimenting on the quick transit problem, as appears from some head-lines in one of the local papers, which read: "A Chinaman murdered—Two white men hurl him from the sidewalk into eternity."

SUPREME COURT—TRIAL TERM—PART I.—JUNE 13.

Before Judge Barrett and a Jury.

A FOURTEEN-DOLLAR SUIT AGAINST THE CITY—AN OBSTINATE JUROR.

Martin B. Brown vs. The Mayor, &c.—The plaintiff did printing for the City, for which he presented bills amounting to $254. The Auditing Clerk cut the amount down to the extent of $14 50 on the ground that some of the charges were exorbitant, and the Controller refused to pay other than the reduced amount—$239 50. The present suit was, therefore, brought to enforce payment of the original amount. After a number of witnesses had been examined as to the value of the work done, the case was submitted to the jury, who, after an hour's absence, came into court saying they could not agree.

Judge Barrett said the question submitted to them was one so very simple that he did not think he would be justified in discharging them until they had made further effort to agree upon a verdict. He therefore sent them back to deliberate, with instructions to bring in a sealed verdict on Monday morning, if agreed.

It was understood that all the jurors were in favor of a verdict for plaintiff for the full amount, except one, and as the jurors retired some of them could not repress an ironical laugh at the prospect of being locked up until Monday through the stubbornness of a single juror on a question of $14 50. Later in the day the jury announced they had agreed, and were discharged by the Court.

Brown, Hall & Vanderpoel for plaintiff; Messrs. Dean and Forker for the city.

FRIDAY, June 13—P. M.

The sales of Gold to-day were, as on Thursday afternoon, 116⅞@117 ₩ cent. The demand for Exchange improved for the steamers of Saturday, both on 60 days' Bills, London, for trade account, and on Sight Bills to cover the large amount of traveling credits issued to parties who go out to-morrow on their Summer excursion to England and the Continent. Sales of 60 days at 109@109⅛; Sight Bills, 110⅛@110¼ ₩ cent.

Money is lending to the Stock Brokers at 5@6 ₩ cent., a fair demand, owing to the improved Share speculation at the Exchange, and prime mercantile paper goes at from 6½ to 7 ₩ cent.

There was a substantial Bullish revival at the Stock Exchange to-day, following up the improved prices of yesterday. The market had the negative advantage of some heavy sales of the Railroads and Western Telegraph made on Tuesday night and on Wednesday, at low figures, on short account. These sales were made with great recklessness by prominent operators, apparently to stagger and discourage anything like an immediate upward speculation, which the recent favorable change in Money was calculated to produce. The effect proved but momentary, and when the sales were required to be covered to-day, it was found that the Bulls of the Exchange, especially the Vanderbilt party, had taken the field in earnest, and advanced Western Telegraph about 5 ₩ cent., Lake Shore 2½, New-York Central 1½, and the higher Road Stocks 1 ₩ cent. The Pacific Mail also participated in the advance, and the general course of prices on other Stocks was upward. The transactions in Western Telegraph were on a very large scale, and also unusually heavy in New-York Central. Erie Stock was easily moved up to 64⅛@65 ₩ cent. on higher quotations from London.

The Public Funds of the United States continued in demand, closing strong, and the Pacific Mortgages and most of the old established Western Mortgages were firm.

At 3 o'clock, when the Exchange Room closed, the following quotations were made, as compared with Thursday night:

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Bank of Montreal took place at Montreal, May 16, when the results of the business of the Bank for the last fiscal year, closing April 30, were made known. The profits of the concern for the year were $1,820,000, exclusive of $1,876,936 premiums on the new or increased stock of the Bank. Out of these resources, and $223,000 brought over from the previous year, $2,020,000 was paid out in dividends (12 ₩ cent.) and extra distributions, and $1,000,000 carried to Surplus or Rest Account, raising this account to $5,000,000 on a capital of $12,000,000. The undivided profits carried over to the next year amount to $400,449. The present general balance sheet of the Bank is as follows:

BANK OF MONTREAL, APRIL 30.

Exchange and Bills Discounted	$22,611,822

Together	$35,252,614
Capital paid up	*$11,296,830
Rent on property	5,000,000
Profit and loss balance	400,449
Dividends unpaid	826,634
Circulation	3,364,295
Deposits	13,777,324
Due to Banks	587,682
	$35,252,614

* The sum of $703,170 remains to be paid up, making the Capital $12,000,000.

The Equitable Fund Company have constituted for the ensuing year a very able and responsible Board of Trustees, and Mr. Adrian Iselin, of this City, has been made Vice-President, which we have reason, from a long acquaintance with Mr. Iselin, to believe a most excellent selection. Mr. Jonathan Edwards, of Connecticut, continues at the head of the Company.

The holders of North Carolina Special Tax bonds are invited to attend a meeting, to be held Wednesday, June 18, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the banking offices of Thomas Denny & Co., No. 39 Wall-street, to listen to the reading of the opinion of Reverdy Johnson as to the obligations of the State on these bonds, and also to make arrangements for joining suit against the State under his direction.

The week's imports of foreign dry goods have been to the specie value of $1,215,938; amount marketed, $1,132,475.

With the current monthly issue for June 15 the first half year of the Railway Monitor is complete. In its special line, this new journal has made for itself a high name as a trustworthy record of information relative to the progress of railroad enterprises.

BANKING AND FINANCIAL.

☞ J. J. KIERNAN, manager of the Wall-street Financial and Commercial News Bureau, and European Telegraphic Agency, sent the following dispatch over his instruments:

To Subscribers: The Manhattan Company circulated the report that bullion in the Bank of England had increased £241,000 during the week. I received a dispatch stating that the bullion had increased that amount to-day, and increased £421,000 for the week. Their London correspondent at No. 92 Broadway, was tripped up again on his enterprise. They had better compete with me with legitimate news, if at all, or give up and not rehash news. Where are their reliable banker's dispatches? I invite all my subscribers to examine mine and decipher them with their time of receipt, or a joint committee from the Stock and Gold Exchange to investigate.

INVESTMENT BONDS

The Northern Pacific Railroad Company having determined to close its 7.30 First Mortgage Gold Loan at an aggregate not exceeding thirty million dollars, and thereafter to pay no higher rate of interest than 6 per cent. on further issues of its bonds, the limited remainder of the 7 3-10 loan is now being disposed of through the usual agencies.

As the bonds of this issue are made receivable in payment for the Company's lands at 1.10, they are in constant and increasing demand for this purpose, and will continue to be after the loan is closed—a fact which much enhances their value and attractiveness as an investment.

The Company now has more than 500 miles of its road built and in operation, including the entire Eastern Division connecting Lake Superior and the navigation of the Missouri River; it has earned title to nearly ten million acres of its land grant, and sales of lands have thus far averaged $5 66 per acre.

All marketable securities are received in exchange for Northern Pacifics.

The United States Courts.

After the discharge on bail of Thomas Maguire, the carrier, Thursday afternoon, charged with opening letters, a man named James Calhoun, an engineer in the Manhattan Gas-works and a church missionary, was arrested, and charged before Commissioner Shields with having offered a bribe of $15 to Officer Vail, a witness in Maguire's case, to influence his testimony in favor of Maguire. Calhoun yesterday gave $2,000 bail to appear for examination.

The motion on behalf of E. C. B. Garcia, Consul General of Uruguay, to discharge the bail given before Marshal Fiske, and that reduced bail be given before a Commissioner, was argued before Judge Blatchford yesterday, and the motion was denied.

In the case of the New-York and Brooklyn Ferry Company against the tug-boat General Franz Sigel, her engines, &c., an action to recover $1,500 damages sustained in a collision between the ferry-boat George Washington and the Sigel, on the East River, on the 19th day of July, 1871, and which the libelants alleged was caused by the negligence of the pilot of the Sigel, Judge Blatchford yesterday dismissed the libel with costs.

Laguayra has been in good demand and held with confidence; 1,809 bags, by the St. Thomas, sold here, and 4,000 bags at Philadelphia, (some days since, but not previously reported,) on private terms. Of Porto Rico, 2,025 bags, by the Arrola, sold on private terms. Other kinds scarce and held firmly, but inactive. The stock of Rio and Santos in first hands here this evening is 76,675 bags. We quote invoices thus: Rio, 17½c.@18c.; fair, 18¼c.@18½c.; good, 18¾c.@19c.; prime, 19¼c.@19½c., gold, ₱ lb., 60 and 90 days' credit; Rio, in lots, 18c.@19¾c., gold; Java, 21c.@23c.; Maracaibo, 18½c.@20c.; Laguayra, 19c.@20½c.; San Domingo, 17c.@17½c., gold.

COTTON—For early delivery business has been very dull since our last, with prices quoted essentially unchanged, closing somewhat nominal. Sales have been confined to 740 bales to spinners. The dealings for forward delivery have been on a much less extensive scale, and the market, though opening with some show of renewed buoyancy, closed decidedly lower and weak, with considerable pressure to sell. Sales since our last of 14,650 bales, (of which 2,300 bales last evening and 12,350 bales to-day,) with June contracts closing at 19 21-32c.; July, 19 15-16c.; August, 20c.; September, 18¾c.@18⅞c.; October, 18 1-16c.@18⅛c.; November, 17 15-16c.; December, 17⅞c., these figures indicating a decline of ⅛c.@¼c. ₱ lb. from yesterday's final quotations. The business to-day was mainly in July and August contracts. The receipts at this port to-day were 647 bales Middling; 423 bales from Norfolk, 31 bales from Baltimore, 104 bales per rail. The reported receipts at the shipping ports to-day were 2,876 bales, and for the week 13,732 bales, against 25,108 bales last week; and since Sept. 1, 3,442,945 bales, against 2,841,480 bales same time last year. The following quotations are based on Cotton in store running in quality not more than a half grade above or below the grade named:

Currants on private terms; and 110 casks Prunes, part at 9½c.; 100 bags Filberts, and 150 cases Sardines, quarter boxes, on private terms.

GRAIN—There has been an active trade noted in Spring Wheat, prices of which, however, have been further reduced 2c.@3c. a bushel on comparatively free offerings, especially of other than strictly prime to choice stock. The demand has been mainly for export, though the want of freight-room, the high rates claimed by ship-owners, and the unfavorable cable reports have been against the outward movement. Winter Wheat has been in slack request and unsettled in price. Sales have been reported since our last, of 209,000 bushels at $1 50@$1 53 for fair average to very choice No. 2 Milwaukee Spring, closing rather steadier, with $1 52 bid for choice samples; $1 51 for good do., to arrive next week; $1 44@$1 47 for No. 2 Chicago Spring; $1 47@$1 50 for No. 2 North-western Spring; $1 35@$1 42 for No. 3 Spring; $1 28@$1 33, chiefly at $1 31@$1 33, for rejected and inferior Spring; $1 54 for choice No. 2 Nebraska Spring; $1 60 for choice Canada Club, in bond; $1 51@$1 63 for Red Western; $1 65@$1 70 for Amber do.; $1 70@$1 85 for White Western.... For forward delivery the market has been quite dull, with last half of June and first half of July options quoted nominally at $1 51@$1 52 for No. 2 Milwaukee Spring.... A fairly active business has been reported in Corn, on a comparatively firm basis as to values, with the main call for good to prime steamer grades of new Mixed Western, the offering of which qualities were quite moderate. Sales have been reported since our last of 178,000 bushels at 55c.@56c. for good to prime steamer grades new Mixed Western; 57c.@58c. for choice do.; 50c.@54c. for warm, damp, and inferior do.; 64c.@65c. for new Yellow Western; 65c. for good old mixed Western.... Barley quiet and nominal.... Oats have been moderately active, with Mixed Western quoted a shade higher, and White, heavy and lower. Sales have been reported since our last of 94,500 bushels at 40c.@43½c. for new Mixed Western, chiefly at 42c.@43c. for good to prime samples; 39c.@42c. for new Black do.; 45c.@50c. for new White do., mainly at 46c.@48c. for fair to prime lots.... Feed has been dull and quoted quite weak in price at from $15@$23 ₱ ton.

GUNNY BAGS AND BAGGING—Have been slow of sale, yet quoted steady, including Bags at 14¼c.@15c.; Bagging, 9¼c.... Domestic Cloth at 13¼c.@13½c. for prompt deliveries.

HAY AND STRAW—There has been a very moderate movement noted since our last, with prices favoring buyers, on very free offerings. Prime Bale Hay quoted at $23@$25; Good Hay, $18@$20; Shipping, Good, $15@$16; Shipping, Common, $10@$11; Long Rye Straw, $19@$20; Short Rye Straw, $12@$15; Oat Straw, $12 ₱ ton.

HEMP—Of Sisal, an invoice, to arrive, was reported sold at 8¼c. Manila held firmly, but without further movements of importance. Of Jute, 1,600 bales changed hands on private terms. Market about steady.

HOPS—Have been offered less freely and quoted firm, though not active. The week's receipts of domestic have been 82 bales, making the arrivals since Sept. 1, 1872, according to Mr. Emmett Wells, 23,727 bales. The imports of foreign since Sept. 1, 1872, have been 20,681 bales. We quote: New-York, growth 1872, 40c.@50c.; Eastern, growth 1872, 35c.@45c.; Western, growth 1872, 35c.@45c.; crop of 1870, 12c.@18c.; old olds, 10c.@15c.; Bavarian, 40c.@50c.; English, 30c.@40c.; Belgian at 25c.@30c., ₱ lb. Mr. Wells remarks that: "Cable advices received here this week fully confirm late mail reports of the appearance and increase of fly in the English plantations. Should these reports continue discouraging, the markets, both foreign and domestic, will be likely to improve. The stock of new American Hops in this City is now reduced to about 2,000 bales; of foreign on the market there is something less than 2,000 bales. The few bales of foreign in bond will not affect the market. We learn that freight has been engaged for the reshipment of from 300 to 400 bales; the present prospect of the English market indicates that the remainder will soon follow. About 300 bales of old Hops have changed hands this week for consumptive wants. Our advices from the Hop districts are, on the whole, favorable; the weather of late has been quite propitious, and the vine has nearly reached the tops of the poles."

LATHS, LIME, AND LUMBER—A moderate demand prevails for Laths, on the basis of $2 25 for Eastern ₱ 1,000.... Lime has been in request and steady, with common Rockland quoted at $1 50, and Lump at $1 75 ₱ bbl.; Portland Cement $3 35@$3 75; Roman, $3@$3 50; "Rosendale," $1 75 ₱ bbl.... There has been rather more call noted for suitable qualities of lumber on a generally steady basis as to values. Eastern Spruce quoted at $17@$18 50 for cargoes, and $18@$21 for lots to order; Southern Pine, $38@$40; White Pine Boards, $31@$34; Yellow Pine Timber, $18@$23; shingles within the range of $3@$15.

LEATHER—Manufacturers are buying stock to a very moderate extent at the moment, and only to meet urgent wants, while holders of goods quite promptly meet on the basis of previous quotations, the advantage being in favor of the purchasers, in most instances, especially on the less desirable kinds of Sole. The better qualities of Upper stock are held with more confidence, though without notable activity.

METALS—Trade in this line has been generally very quiet.... Copper has been dull, with sales reported of only 75,000 lbs. Lake at 29½c.@30c.... In Iron the dealings have been unimportant and prices somewhat irregular, with sales confined to 200 tons Eglinton Pig on private terms. We quote: Glengarnock Pig at $46@$47; Eglinton do., $45@$46; No. 1 American Pig at $48@$49; No. 2 do. at $46@$47; Wrought Scrap at $45@$48; English Rails at $70, gold; American Rails, at works, $80@$82 50; old Double-head and T Rails at $52.... Pig-lead has been quite dull at 6¾c., gold, for ordinary foreign.... Spelter has been inactive at 7¼c.@7¾c., gold.... Pig-tin has been in slack request, with Straits quoted at 30½c.@31c., with sales of 50 slabs at 30½c., and English at 30c.; Banca, 36c.@36½c., gold. Tin Plates have favored buyers on a restricted business; sales, 750 boxes Charcoal at $10 75@$11; 800 boxes Charcoal Terne at $9 75@$10; 200 boxes Coke at $8 75@$9; and 250 boxes best Coke Terne at $9., gold. Charcoal Plates quoted here at $11@$11 87½; Charcoal Terne, $9 50@$10; Coke, $8 37½@$9 25; Coke Terne, $7 75@$8 75, gold, ₱ box.... Zinc dull and nominal.

MOLASSES—Has been held firmly, but has been quiet to-day; 70 bbls. very choice New-Orleans sold at 90c. ₱ gallon. New-Orleans, very inferior to fancy, quoted at from 55c.@80c.; Porto Rico at 30c.@60c.; Cuba at 18c.@40c., and English Islands at 25c.@45c. ₱ gallon.

NAVAL STORES—A moderate inquiry has been noted for Resin, at about previous prices, with sales reported of 1,250 bbls. Strained and good Strained, at $2 90@$3, and 300 bbls. Pale at $4 75@$5 ₱ 280 lb.... Tar steady but inactive; 100 bbls. Washington sold at $3 96 ₱ bbl.... Spirits Turpentine dull, with sales of only 35 bbls. at 45¼c., closing at 45c.

OILS—Business has been generally dull, in a jobbing as well as in a wholesale way, with rather less firmness noted in values in some instances.

PETROLEUM—Crude, in bulk, very quiet at 8¾c.... Refined, in light demand on the basis of 19¼c. for early delivery, here, with sales reported of 1,000 bbls. at the quoted rate.... At Philadelphia, Refined dull at 19⅛c. asked for early delivery, with August, September and October options quoted at 19⅜c.... Refined, in cases, quiet at 25c.@25½c.... Naphtha, in bbls., quiet here at 11c. asked for City; 4,100 cases sold, on private terms, quoted at 18½c. At Philadelphia, 2,000 bbls. Naphtha reported sold on private terms.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been held firmly, but has been very quiet; New Western Mess quoted, for early delivery, at $16 62½; Extra Prime, $14. For forward delivery, sales were made of 250 bbls. New Western Mess, June option, at $16 62½, and 250 bbls. do., July, at $16 75.... City Dressed Hogs scarce, and quoted up to 6¾c.@7¼c., with a fair inquiry noted.... Cut-meats have been held with more confidence, on meagre offerings of stock and a fair demand; sales have been reported, since our last, of 120 boxes Long-cut Hams, at 11c.; 2,000 Pickled Hams, in bulk, at 12¾c.@13c., for light averages; 800 Pickled Shoulders, in bulk, at 8c.; 1,500 Smoked Shoulders at 8¾c.@9c.; 2,250 Smoked Hams, part, 13¾c.@14c.; 1,000 fresh Bellies, on private terms; 50 boxes Bellies, at 8¾c.; 24,000 lbs. Bellies, in bulk, at 8¼c.@8¾c.... Bacon has been offered less freely, and quoted stronger in price, on a rather more confident demand; sales, 175 boxes Long Clear, at 8c.@8¼c.; 600 boxes Short Clear, at 8¾c.; small lots of do., at 8⅝c.; 10 boxes Short Rib, at 8¼c.... Lard has declined slightly, on freer offerings, and a moderate call for early delivery, closing weak; sales, 76 tcs. Western Steam, at 8⅝c.; 75 tcs. new do., at 8¾c.; 100 tcs. City do. at 8¾c. And for forward delivery the dealings have been quite extensive at slightly modified figures, embracing sales of 750 tcs. Western Steam, June options, at 8⅝c.@8 15-16c.; 2,500 tcs. do., July, at 9¼c.; 1,750 tcs. do., August, at 9 5-16c.@9⅜c., and 1,000 tcs. do., September, at 9½c.; also 500 tcs. new Western Steam, to arrive in July, at 9c., closing in favor of purchasers.... Beef has been in limited request and quoted heavy within the range of from $9@$11 for New Mess; $11@$13 for New Extra do., ₱ bbl.; sales, 90 bbls. Tierce Beef quoted at $18 50@$22 50 for Prime Mess; $21 50@$24 for India Mess, and $24@$28 for Extra India Mess. Beef Hams inactive within the range of $25@$32 50 for inferior to very choice brands.... Butter meets with a moderate call; offerings of State light and of Western somewhat freer. New Butter quoted about steady at 22c.@29c. for fair to choice State; 30c.@32c. for fancy lots, and 15c.@21c. for Western, chiefly at 17c.@20c. for good to fine stock; 21c.@25c. for fancy do.... Cheese has been without further change of moment. The demand, which has been moderate, has been met with promptness within our range. State Factory at 10c.@14½c., chiefly at 13¼c.@14c. for really desirable shipping qualities; State Dairy at 7c.@12½c.; Western product at from 11c.@13½c. for ordinary to very choice Factory, ₱ lb.

SALT—Has been quoted firm on a fair inquiry; Liverpool Ground quoted at $1 50; Liverpool Fine, $2 50@$3 50, from store; Turk's Island at 35c.@40c. ₱ bushel; Syracuse Ground at $1 30@$1 40; Factory Filled at $2 25; Bulk, 35c.@40c.; Coarse, 45c.

SALTPETRE—Has been dull and nominal at 7c.@7¼c., gold, ₱ lb.

SEEDS—Have been quiet since our last, with the advantages as to price in favor of buyers. We quote: Clover within the range of from 8¼c.@9c. for common to choice; Rough Flax at from $2 25@$2 40; Timothy at $4 25@$4 40, and Calcutta Linseed at $2 60@$2 65, gold, ₱ bushel. Sales of 10,000 bags Calcutta Linseed on the basis of our reduced figures should have been printed in yesterday's report.

SOAP—Has been quoted steady on a moderate trade, including Castile at 9¼c.@9¾c.; Colgate's Pale, 7¼c.; Family, 5¼c., and No. 1 at 6¼c. ₱ lb.

SPICES—Though quiet, have been firm as a rule, with Mace quoted firm at $1 20@$1 25; No. 1 Nutmegs at 97½c.@$1; Cassia at 25½c.@26c.; Cloves at 26c.@26½c.; East India Pepper at 19c.@20½c.; Pimento at 11¼c.; Ginger at 10c.@11½c. ₱ lb., gold.

The majority of the newspapers of Philadelphia seem to have got reduced to a condition of degrading servitude to the Ring which TWEED would have gladly bought in New-York with the expenditure of as many millions as the Philadelphia Ring spends of tens of thousands in subsidizing the local Press. Even the Age, which promised to keep pace with our exposures, failed to copy our second letter, and the Press, which professes a vague longing for reform, copied neither first nor second. No other Philadelphia paper has, so far, alluded to our direct attacks upon the Ring, although their definiteness, if not the novelty of their facts, made them of very decided importance to every resident of that city. This slavish silence of nearly the entire Press of the second city in the Union is a very significant fact in the history of political corruption. It has come to this, that the ruffianly Ring of Philadelphia exercises a censorship over the Press more absolute and fear-inspiring than the notoriously despotic supervision exercised at St. Petersburg and Moscow. We are not, by any means, done with this subject yet. We shall give the Ring a day or two to make any reply which they may think necessary, and then we shall see that, in spite of the Philadelphia newspapers, the people of that grossly-misgoverned city are fully informed about the way they have been swindled, and the men who are responsible for it.

Among the items in the cable summary of the policy of the new Spanish Cabinet, we observe these—"Liberty in the Antilles, and the abolition of slavery." We have already shown that the establishment of the Federal Republic means the extension of the right of self-government to Cuba. It is hardly necessary to add that the independence of Cuba is an inevitable consequence of its erection into a Federal State. Let the Government at Madrid honestly carry out both points of its declared programme in regard to Cuba, and, though the mother country may lose a colony, the Republic will be purged of the shame of supporting despotism and barbarity in the West Indies, such as no government could countenance for a week in Spain and continue to exist.

Thanks to the intervention of the Oil City Derrick, the political views of Senator FENTON have been lifted from his bosom and exposed to the gaze of a more or less interested public. The Senator's ex post facto wisdom is the most remarkable feature of the exhibition. He declares that the result of the last campaign "was not different from what he deemed possible from the start." But what Mr. FENTON really deemed possible "from the start" is to be found in his famous telegram to WHITELAW REID some hours before Mr. GREELEY'S nomination: "Let me repeat to yourself and others that his nomination will be triumphantly indorsed by the American people." This is not the first time that the Senator has been obliged to revise statements, prophetic and otherwise, of which he was the author.

Our Washington dispatches set at rest definitely and finally the wild rumors that have been in circulation regarding the Polaris and its unfortunate commander. The authors of these stories are sufficiently well known, and their last heartless inventions will add still more to the contemptuous distrust with which they are generally regarded. The manufacture of false news is, happily, a business of which in this country it is not hard to maintain a substantial monopoly, and those who pursue it are readily recognized.

The Court of Appeals yesterday adjourned, for the first time, it is stated, in the history of the court, with a clear calendar. This is partly due to the wise provision by which the court was relieved of many accumulated cases at its organization, but it is also due to the industry and fidelity of the justices. They have set a valuable example in these regards, and if it is followed our law will be more swift and more sure than it now is.

The Problem of the South.

Are there no Southern States but Louisiana? Is there no topic of interest in connection with the South but the probable issue of the quarrel between the Kellogg party and the McEnery-Warmoth party in that State? To readers of the Democratic Press, and of the half-dozen prominent journals which cast in their lot with the coalition last year, the most natural answer to these questions would be No. They hear of little else. Yet Louisiana is, in fact, the only one of the "reconstructed" States in which there is any political trouble, and the only one, except Arkansas, in which there is even the least political excitement. We have ventured to interpret this fact, which all who know the truth will concede, as showing that the Southern people have, to a large extent, given up partisan politics, and turned their attention to their private business, and we have suggested that this was a sensible and profitable thing for them to do. Some of the Southern newspapers say that we are mistaken, that the quiet of the South is the quiet of despair, "the repose of the exhausted spirit when it is crushed by the overwhelming thought of its own helplessness and misery." They declare that this "silence shows the wasting decay of our Government," and that in that decay the North will sooner or later share.

The newspapers taking this view of the case are among the most extreme in their own political sentiments. We are bound to say that there is no reason to suppose that their expressions are of more than the narrowest significance. Compared with the spirit shown by the great body of the Southern people in their daily life, their spirit is sentimental and silly, and we have no doubt that the majority of intelligent Southern men so regard it.

The Southern whites are not so completely wedded to politics that they can see and think of nothing else. But even in the political field, why should they despair? The Southern States are not, as the Democratic Press would have us believe, dominated by one party. In nearly all of them the party in power—whichever it is—is not strong enough to resort to extreme measures of any kind — social, political, financial — with impunity. In two States, Georgia and Tennessee, the Democrats possess both the executive and legislative branches of the Government. In two others—North Carolina and Texas—they have the Legislature. In Alabama they have the Senate. In Florida the Republican majority in the Senate is but two, in the House but three. In Mississippi the Republican majority is ten in the Senate, and six in the House. South Carolina is the only State where the Republicans are very strong, and here their majority in the Legislature is ninety-three. On the other hand, the Democrats hold Georgia by a legislative majority of 181. It is the sheerest assumption to speak of States thus divided as under the domination of a single party. The South has shown that her State Governments can be independent of either party when the people choose to make them so, by the most unanswerable demonstration.

It is idle to point the selfish and obstinate political theorists and demagogues of the partisan Press to these facts. They do not wish facts. Having set up the plea that the South is hopelessly oppressed, they do not mean to abandon it for such a trifling thing as its utter falsehood. Their mournful ululations are their stock in trade, and not being prepared for any better occupation than their present one, they cling with desperation to their exploded statements. But we see no reason to suppose that these professional wailers have any considerable influence among the practical people of the South. They, on the contrary, are occupied with other matters. They know that the South is very poor; that its resources demand capital which is not easily obtained for their development; that in many most important material interests it is sadly behindhand; and that its burdens have been grievously and wickedly increased by bad local government. But they see that bad local government is not an evil without remedy, and that they have the remedy as much in their own hands as the people of most of the Northern States. They know this by their own immediate experience and reasoning, and the time has gone by when they can be seriously deceived in regard to it. Of course, the more intelligent know that the ignorance of the great body of voters, white and black, is a terrible handicap in the race for political honesty and efficiency; but they perceive that that is something which must be dealt with at home, and that it has very little connection with general politics.

As far as the people of the Northern States are concerned, without distinction of party, they have but one wish for the South, and that is a hearty and strong wish for its prosperity. They hope, and they believe, that the "Southern question" has entered for the last time into national politics. They desire for the future to deal with the Southern people without any reference to politics, to buy of them and sell to them, and to work with them as they do with each other on the basis of mutual good-will and the practical relations of common citizenship. If the Southern people will devote themselves in politics to the task of securing good governments for their States and minor districts, the people of the North will give them their sympathy, and will rejoice in whatever success they may attain. It is a task the people of all the States must soon undertake in earnest, and the present is an excellent season, everywhere, to begin.

The Rush for Office in France.

Correspondents at Versailles talk of nothing but the awful rush for office which has followed the accession to power of President MACMAHON. The French papers contain column after column of removals and appointments, and the Republican Press follows with bitter sarcasm and indignant protest the wholesale decapitation of their friends in office. Says a recent number of the Siècle: "The City of Versailles is enveloped in a cloud of office-seekers; it seems that within the memory of man there were never so many of them seen together at one time. For every vacant place there are invariably presented three candidates—an Orleanist, a Legitimist, and a Bonapartist. At every fresh appointment, therefore, two men are left disappointed for one that is made happy." Familiar as we are with the office-hunting nuisance, it is difficult to realize the proportions which it has assumed in France. In the first place, there is a very large class of Frenchmen who are trained solely for official employment, just as another large class are educated for the Church. The State is probably the worst served of the two, but out of official employment its servants are about as useless to society at large as an unfrocked priest. The hold which the Empire maintained over the people of France can never be properly understood without some study of the minute and extensive ramifications of Government patronage through every department of local as well as of national service. Nor can the fearful pressure to which President MACMAHON and his Ministers are being subjected, be fully appreciated without some insight into the same subject.

As has frequently been pointed out in these columns, it is very misleading to view the internal politics of France from a Republican stand-point. Republican forms begin and end with the constitution of the Central Government. Local self-government, in our sense of the term, simply does not exist. As an illustration of this fact, consider for a moment the functions of the next order of the administrative hierarchy below the Council of Ministers. To the reader in search of analogies, the French departments may seem to have some kind of affinity with the States which compose this Union. Start with this absurd assumption and see how completely the administrative methods of France outrage all our notions of popular government. We should expect the chief officer of the department—the Prefect—to be elected, but he is not—he is appointed by the President of the Republic on the recommendation of the Minister of the Interior. The Councilors who are supposed to advise and co-operate with the Prefect are also appointed by the Central Government; neither he nor they have any direct responsibility to the people, but are accountable for their acts only to the power that appointed them.

When we examine the powers confided to the Prefects, the shock to democratic prepossessions is more violent still. These functionaries can appoint, nominally without the intervention of the Government, but really according to the wishes and in harmony with the interests of the party in power, the following imposing list of officials of all grades: Governors and keepers of houses of detention and of prisons; prison commissioners; doctors and officers of lunatic asylums; doctors connected with mineral springs; directors and officers of asylums for vagrants; departmental architects; keepers of public records; administrators, directors, and receivers of charitable institutions; inspectors of weights and measures; directors and professors of schools of art and custodians of picture galleries; tax collectors; treasurers of towns, whose revenue does not exceed $60,000; dealers in gunpowder and holders of small licenses to sell tobacco; collectors of town dues (octroi;) lieutenants of the wolf-hunting train; postmasters in offices whose revenue does not exceed $200 a year; (those of higher grade are appointed by the Government;) letter-carriers; custodians of woods and forests; rural policemen; superintendents of police in towns of not over 6,000 population; members of medical juries; keepers of wharves, bridges, light-houses, port-wardens, harbor-masters, canal superintendents, &c., &c. The list of prefectoral appointees, though long, by no means exhausts the official patronage of that functionary. Conjointly with the Minister of the Interior, the Prefect appoints a good many more salaried officials, and he directly appoints the members of a number of honorary commissions. Further, no wine-shop or theatre can open without a license from the Prefect, and he has a summary power of withdrawing a license from either. He exercises a censorship over the Press, and he dispenses public advertising.

We have said enough to show how illusory it is to test by Republican standards a system of administration that permits the existence of an official who, in respect of patronage, is Governor, Mayor, Common Council, Board of Supervisors, Board of Excise and numerous other things rolled in one. Let it be kept in mind that the judicial system of France is framed on the same model as its administrative hierarchy, and that we have only touched on one department of the latter, and some faint idea may be obtained of the portentous rush for place which has been witnessed throughout the country during the last few weeks. It is also well to remember that the redistribution of offices, small and great, which is now in progress, must materially modify the popular vote. Let a general or partial election come when it may, it will be more conservative in its results than those we have witnessed lately. As the Bonapartists, in virtue of holding the balance of power in the Assembly, are getting a very full share in the distribution of office, they can hardly fail to profit at the polls from its result.

Fairmount Park.

The ceremony of formally transferring to the United States Centennial Commission the ground for the buildings, is to take place on the fourth of next month. A brief description of Fairmount Park, in which these buildings are to be erected, will probably, therefore, be interesting to those of our readers who are not familiar with Philadelphia localities.

The greater part of Fairmount Park is a tract somewhat resembling in shape, and about equal in size to, a triangle, of which the sides are respectively two and three-quarters, two and a third, and three and one-tenth miles; one angle of the said triangle being near Fairmount, another near George's Hill, and the third at the "Falls of Schuylkill" carriage-road bridge. Of this area about one-fourth is east of the Schuylkill, and considerably over one-half is west of it; while about one-sixth, and in respect to scenery an exceedingly valuable part, is composed of the river itself. In addition to this area, an irregularly-shaped portion of the park, beginning near the bridge we have mentioned, extends about half a mile up the Schuylkill. Thence, a long, narrow, crooked branch extends up the Wissahickon, including both banks of that stream. The distance, in an air line, from Fairmount to the upper end of the Wissahickon Drive is eight miles, and the shortest road that could be made within the park limits would add at least two miles to this.

The scenery of Fairmount Park cannot readily be compared with anything in the neighborhood of New-York. The Schuylkill above Fairmount Dam forms a pond, or, to be more romantic in our method of expression, a winding lake, about one-eighth of a mile wide, and rather less than five miles long, of which four miles are either in or contiguous to the park. From each side of the river rise gracefully-formed hills, some of them precipitous, and about all of them too steep for a carriage-road or even convenient foot-path to be made directly up their sides. On these hills are a great number and variety of large old trees, the foliage of which, as is indeed generally the case with the trees of South-eastern Pennsylvania, is remarkable for its density and richness. From the furthest western portion of the park, George's Hill, situated about a mile from the Schuylkill, commands a magnificent view of the city and surrounding country. But the most remarkable feature of Fairmount Park is the Wissahickon Drive. About ten miles nearly north of the State-house, the Wissahickon, a small and rapid river, enters a deep ravine, in which it continues for a course, including the numerous windings, of something like seven or eight miles. Nearly the whole length of this ravine is within the limits of the park. The drive is close to the river. The sides of the ravine are steep and rugged, but not so much so as to prevent the growth of tall forest-trees, with which they are almost completely covered; the whole scene forming a combination of wildness and beauty, the more striking from the change and variety presented at every turn of the road.

There are in Fairmount Park several miles of steam railroads. This is, of course, in most respects a great disadvantage, though it is in some degree counteracted by the opportunity it affords of running trains to a part of the park otherwise inaccessible except to persons who can take long walks or afford carriages. All the drives and walks will doubtless cross these railroads either below or above grade, an object which the nature of the ground admits of being readily accomplished. In regard to the laying out of the park, there has been, as yet, comparatively little done. The principal reason for this was that it was considered desirable to spend the money mainly, at first, in securing the land before it rose too much in value; but there was also another reason arising from a dread among the people of the city of having the natural beauty and rural simplicity of the scenery impaired by artificial changes. As things are now, most of the needed improvements, they think, can be made at any time, and made much more easily than undesirable alterations can be effaced. In regard to the pecuniary management of affairs it has always been honest and economical, affording a most wonderful contrast to the way a great deal of the Philadelphia public business is conducted.

There has been, at different times, a great deal of discussion in relation to the best means of making the part of the park west of the Schuylkill more accessible to the large class of persons who cannot afford to ride except in public conveyances. Apart from all motives of benevolence in this matter, it has always been the policy of Philadelphia to render the city a desirable residence for mechanics and laboring men. The killing off of large numbers of this class every Summer with the pestilentially dirty streets would seem, it is true, to indicate that this policy is not always fully carried out. Still, if the streets are insalubrious, it is all the more reason why the park should be accessible. The portion of the park east of the Schuylkill, it should be here mentioned, is, most of it, (with the exception of the Wissahickon Drive,) pretty easily reached from the street-cars, though even of this portion there are some parts which require a longer walk than it would be always convenient for a family to take, especially if the day happened to be a very warm one.

The "Claimant's" New Appeal.

The wonderful Tichborne trial still goes on, and the sanguine people who hoped to be able by this time to make up their minds on the subject, one way or the other, are beginning to despair. On both sides the testimony seems like ropes of sand—it falls to pieces as fast as made, or else is rendered useless by counter evidence, which, in turn, is cast into the shade by something else. It is impossible, consequently, to form any positive estimate of the aspect of the current trial, although the chances are strong against absolute conviction. One day, in reading the reports, it seems incredible that the "claimant" should be any other than Sir ROGER TICHBORNE; another day the reader is equally convinced that he must infallibly be ARTHUR ORTON, the Wapping butcher. There are plenty to swear in the most unreserved manner to their conviction that he is both. One set of witnesses, on the side of the "claimant," are at least as sure as those on the side of the Government. The persons of social distinction, members of Parliament, and others, who befriended the "claimant" before, still stick to his fortunes—although we observe, by the way, that they no longer back their opinions with their purses—and with the masses of the English public the man appears to be as popular as ever. Whether he is or is not TICHBORNE, there is something in his tenacity and indomitable courage that is almost heroic; and this it is, we suspect, that has gained and kept friends for the "claimant" whose sympathies have not been precisely measured by the extent of their belief in the validity of his pretensions.

For the tenth time since his huge figure loomed into publicity, the "claimant's" funds have given out. He made application, some time since, for assistance from the Government. Being on trial before the Court of Queen's Bench for perjury and forgery, his case, it was represented, warranted such a supply for his defense. The Home Secretary has, however, refused the application, on the ground that while the State, when it undertakes a prosecution, is bound to find the funds necessary for that object, it has never proceeded upon the principle of also supplying funds for the conduct of the defense. Had the petitioner been committed for trial by magistrates in the usual way, instead of by the Superior Court, in banco, he would have been, it is said, in this respect, in no better position. The magistrates might, indeed, in the exercise of their discretion, have bound over such witnesses as they thought material, and the judge of the court at which the trial took place might have ordered the costs of such witnesses to be paid. But the Superior Court has not the power to order payment of any such costs when witnesses have not been previously so bound over by magistrates. Still, when the trial is over, the Home Secretary will be prepared, he intimates, to consider, in conjunction with the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury, "whether, and to what extent, witnesses for the defense, under the special circumstances of the petitioner's case, may be treated on the same footing as those who are bound over by the magistrates to give evidence for the defense." Under these circumstances, the undaunted "claimant" has appealed, as before, to the British nation. He has published his appeal in these words: "It is now quite plain that I must do one of two things—either appeal again to my friends, the British public, or cave in under the enormous pressure brought to bear against me by the Government—and my relatives. Inasmuch as I have fought now for over six years to try and regain my rights for my children, I feel assured that my friends will not now desert me. Therefore I make bold to ask them again to render me what assistance they can to defend myself against the Government and the purse of the nation."

A failure to convict in the present trial—and, while conviction is possible, it is extremely difficult, in the present aspect of the case, to see on what ground such a conclusion can be founded—will undoubtedly be followed by a fresh effort on the part of the "claimant" to possess himself of what he calls his family estates. In such an effort, too, he may, not improbably, be more strongly supported than before—since many will inevitably regard his acquittal in the light of an indorsement. If the Government, they will argue, with its powerful machinery and unlimited resources, cannot prove the "claimant" to be some one other than Sir ROGER DOUGHTY TICHBORNE—and it is on this, of necessity, that the whole action of perjury and forgery rests—the "claimant" must be that baronet and none other. The inference is, of course, defective, but not for that reason likely to be less popular. One of the weapons of the TICHBORNE family in the former trial consisted in the now realized Government prosecution. If that prosecution ends in smoke, the family will go into the next contest considerably enfeebled. Supposing, therefore, that the "claimant" escapes conviction, it is likely that the ensuing struggle for the disputed property will be far more animated and interesting than the last one; and it is by no means impossible that the conflict may end in the "claimant's" success, and extraordinary and unwarrantable as to many might be the spectacle, his sitting down comfortably to end his days under the ancestral oaks of Tichborne.

A New Defense of Murder.

For some time past there have been indications that the professional gentlemen whose business it is to cheat the gallows would soon have to remodel their machinery and renew their tactics of legal legerdemain. The beautiful insanity "dodge" worked admirably for many years, and never failed to amuse the public and bewilder the intelligent jury. But latterly it has been worked a little threadbare, and people are beginning to find it out, so that the intelligent jury, though they understand it not a whit better than before, dimly perceive that it is no longer so good a trick as it once was, and resent its production as an insult to their intelligence. Worst of all, at this critical juncture came the wretched fiasco of the Train case to make it utterly ridiculous and contemptible, so that any self-respecting murderer can hardly permit his name to be coupled with, and it bids fair to be relegated to, the common herd of pickpockets, sneak-thieves, and other vulgar rascals.

The plea of self-defense was another elegant little device, but it has suffered from want of novelty and the accompanying skepticism which the defeat of legal prestidigitateurs must anticipate for his cleverest creations. When a lawyer first propounded the engaging theory that in every case of murder the dead man is clearly the one to be convicted, the simplicity and boldness of the conception were recognized at once, and carried every jury by storm. But obviously the trick is one that requires very delicate, almost poetical, handling, and a few awkward practitioners have contrived so to lower it in popular esteem that outside of Delaware it is no longer to be relied on. The stay of proceedings is a showy trick, but just as likely to fail as not, and by no means such a resource as a gentleman who has committed an imprudence would care to trust his neck to. Judges somehow are less apt to be dazzled by sleight of hand than juries, and the halter is one of those things emphatically where possession is nine points of the law.

Just at this crisis a Southern law-giver comes to the relief of all distressed murderers and their advocates by a new invention, which must at once commend itself to both professions. He calls it "the imperfection of human nature," and it seems in many respects, not least in point of general applicability, superior to the "insanity" device itself. It was introduced to public notice by its inventor, Judge HOPKINS, under the following circumstances: Before him was arraigned, the other day, Mr. ABRAMS, a newspaper reporter, on the charge of one STYLES, for that the said ABRAMS had with a double-barreled shot-gun, and intent to do bodily harm, feloniously assaulted, or, in the vernacular, "gone for" the said STYLES. The inspiration of this warlike movement was a suggestion from STYLES that ABRAMS was a mulatto. Thereupon the Court bound over the martial ABRAMS in $10,000 to keep the peace, but observed at the same time that it "appreciated the provocation, and that whenever a charge is made by the slanderous tongue of another that his blood is tainted, the imperfection of human nature will justify a resort to the shot-gun."

The law of slander and shot-guns, as here laid down, is, perhaps, a trifle mixed, and it may be regarded by some as an infringement on personal liberty to deny to any man the right of asserting, if he feels like it or thinks so, that his blood is tainted. Moreover, the assertion, once made, would seem to justify a resort to the pill-box rather than to anything else. But through all this confusion of language, which not seldom attends the enunciation of weighty thought, the great principle shines clear and bright that "the imperfection of human nature" justifies a resort to the shot-gun, whenever the owner of the shot-gun feels like resorting to it. Could the new apology for murder be more neatly or concisely framed? If Mr. ABRAMS' worldly circumstances permit him to indulge in the luxury of depositing $10,000 worth of shot in and about the person of Mr. STYLES, the "imperfection of human nature," in the mouth of a skillful advocate and before an appreciative judge, will certainly hold him scathless.

To our own lawyers we need hardly point out the manifold beauties of the new defense. It is not quite certain that everybody is insane, but it is universally admitted that no one is perfect. It is easy to see, therefore, what an enormous advantage the gallows-cheaters would have on the new principle. There would be no need of experts, no weary wrangling over aberrations and delusions, no need of witnesses at all. The learned counsel just plants his injured prisoner before the intelligent jury and says to them: "Gentlemen of the Jury, we admit the shooting, but—observe my client. He is human and imperfect; in a moment of imperfection he resorted to his shot-gun." And the jury, without leaving their seats, return a verdict of "Justifiable homicide on the ground of human imperfection!" What a charming country it will then be for the criminal lawyers and the proprietors of shot guns!

MINOR TOPICS.

One sort of Chinese emigration Californians may use their best efforts to stop without fear of adverse criticism. That is the involuntary emigration, or deportation rather, of kidnapped children. Not long since, according to a San Francisco paper, a little Chinese girl appealed for protection to a Chinaman in the streets of that city. Her story was that some months previously she had been met in the streets of Hong Kong, her native place, by a stranger, who, on a promise of candy, decoyed her on board a vessel in the harbor and brought her to San Francisco. Here she was made a veritable slave in a Chinese household, and treated so barbarously that she took the first opportunity to escape. The poor little waif was put in charge of a lady, with whom, for a short time, she remained contented and happy, until one day her hiding-place was discovered, and at once besieged by large numbers of Chinamen, whose demand that she should be given up was backed by a policeman. Luckily, a means was found to get the child out of the way, and so she escaped. Such cases are said to be not uncommon, and if this poor little one had grounds for believing that "if she were surrendered she would be tortured to death, and her body exhibited to the female slaves of the Chinese quarter as a warning," the matter seems to call for investigation.

On the "British principle of fair play," the man Gow, an account of whose punishment by tar and feathers we copied some time since from the Fergus, Canada, News Record, desires that his side of the story shall have equal prominence. The general tone of the report he first takes exception to, on the ground that he has the best reasons for believing that the writer was his own brother-in-law. As to the number of persons who "assisted" in daubing him with tar and rolling him in feathers, he says: "There were no fifty or sixty engaged in the outrage. Some six or eight roughs, all told, composed the crowd." In regard to the charge of having almost starved his family to death, he replies: "If I had been guilty of the many offenses he (the brother-in-law) charges against me, it was surely his duty to take the necessary proceedings against me." In rebuttal of the starving charge, he furthermore very modestly says that he does not claim to be anything like perfect. On the contrary, that he has many sins to answer for; but that, notwithstanding, he is willing to submit the whole testimony to his acquaintance, and let them decide the degree and character of his culpability.

The sportsmen—or rather certain sportsmen of this State—recently held a convention for the purposes of throwing flies, shooting at a mark, and engaging in other friendly trials of skill. At this convention a resolution was adopted which urged upon the State of New-York the propriety of converting the Adirondack region into a park, whereby the game could be perpetually reserved for the benefit of sportsmen, and the forests saved from destruction. While the majority of people will care very little about the preservation of game and of the pleasure of sportsmen, all intelligent men will agree that measures should be taken without delay to put a stop to the destruction of the Adirondack forests. If suffered to go on, this destruction will result in the drying up of the lakes and springs of that region; the conversion of the Hudson into a shallow torrent, and consequent enormous injury to the agriculture and commerce of the State.

The MacMahon Government begins its reign vigorously, so far as the Communists are concerned, M. THIERS having left a few of them as material wherewith his successors can display energy, and hatred of radical views. ROCHEFORT, who has been confined in a fortress for the last year or two, is to be immediately transported to Caledonia. COURBET, who took part in the destruction of the Vendome Column, is to be made to pay part of the cost of its reconstruction; and it is possible that M. RANC, Deputy from Lyons, will be tried for complicity with the Commune. Strict search will probably result in the discovery of other Communists who have so far escaped punishment, and perhaps MACMAHON can find a petroleuse or two, and treat the Conservatives to the pleasant spectacle of more butcheries on the plain of Satory. And yet the very supporters of the Thiers and MacMahon Governments talk of the severity of NAPOLEON, and his deportation of socialists to Cayenne.

Probably more bridges have been built since 1800 than in all time before. In 1750 London Bridge was the only one across the Thames in that metropolis, and every effort to create another was through local jealousies vehemently resisted. Between Putney, distant about eight miles, and London Bridge, there are now nine bridges. There was at one time a mania for bridge-building, says the Building News, and TOM PAINE, the freethinker, undertook to span the Schuylkill with a single arch. A part which he constructed with this view, went to form a very lofty bridge over the Wear at Sunderland. South America very early hit upon the expedient of suspension bridges. All fees over bridges in London are now abolished, save in one case. A writer on this subject recently pointed out that even the magnificent and enormously costly bridge over the Danube, at Buda-Pesth, is free, and adds that no American bridge is, so far as he is aware, tolled, which, we regret to say, shows the writer's ignorance only too plainly.

NOTES TO THE EDITOR.

Mr. Wise in Defense of the Air-Ship.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

The trans-marine project from Boston would certainly have been consummated, had not the late disastrous fire in that city intervened between the passage of the act to aid it in the Board of Aldermen, and its necessary verification in Common Council Chamber by a two-thirds vote. A day before the fire we received a telegram to come on and meet the Fourth of July Committee to make the necessary arrangements for commencing active operations, and we immediately proceeded thither. On our arrival we were informed that it might not be verified on account of the fire disaster, as a rigid economy of the city expenditures would be advocated in Council Chamber. That defeated the appropriation. In your article of to-day you intimate that the "gallant men" may die of old age before they are ready to begin the voyage. Not if we can by any means secure the outfit necessary to give force and effect to the project. I would not be so persistent in the effort to have it done, were it not so plausible and so easy a thing to do. It is merely a matter of floatation—an ability to keep the air-ship suspended two or three days in the upper trades, whose existence, says the Smithsonian Institute, "is an established scientific fact of every-day experience." These currents of air in the temperate zone traverse from the north-west and from the south-west to the north-east and to the south-east continually. I have experienced this for over thirty years, and in 446 aerial voyages. Over 400 times my airfloat landed me east of the point of departure, once over a thousand miles to the east. But admitting all this, you may say cui bono. Answer—This trip successfully made, though it may land us on the coast of Africa instead of in the City of London, will nevertheless establish its first principle, i. e. that there is a very facile and agreeable method of transition from New-York—from America to Europe. That by a systematic method of barometrical lines we shall be able to land at any point within the range of compass of north-east and south-east, bringing within its easy accessibility the cities of St. Petersburg and Madrid, and all others intermediate. These advantages are its commercial claims, to say nothing of its scientific meteorological considerations. The sanitary laws of the atmosphere will also receive a better interpretation. But I will leave all these important things to the developing character of the system for which I have lived and labored, and will labor until its consummation, or death shall bring my project to an end. Should I not live to do it, or see it done, it will nevertheless be done. Man is a progressive animal, and this project of transmarine ballooning will not die out with the demise of an humble enthusiast of its claims. It has been my life-long idol-hobby, if you please, and I have not ridden it without learning its ways and characteristics.

I hope it will not fail because somebody proposed to do it in this city about fifteen years ago, and, after being provided with the necessary means, was then afraid to do it, although I pleaded and begged for the opportunity to go along. As long as we say it cannot be done, it will remain undone. Now, if you gentlemen of the Press will say it may be done, and, like the Smithsonian Institute, say, as it did say to me, "You are the very best person to undertake the enterprise," I may be enabled to meet with sufficient aid to help me do it. I want no money, no salary—only cloth, linseed oil, ropes, and a life-boat for an emergency. Will do it on an economical scale.

JOHN WISE.

CROOK'S HOTEL, June 13, 1873.

The Traffic in Italian Children.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

In your paper of this morning I have read a letter from Mr. Cerqua, intended to be in defense of the Italian Consul at this port for the responsibility that I have attributed to him about the dishonor cast upon the Italian name in consequence of the slave trade in Italian children of both sexes, but this letter, well considered, leaves the whole matter as it was before. If any one has anything to say in this regard, it ought to be the Consul himself, and to him, and to him alone, I am prepared to answer.

Yours respectfully,
CÆSAR MORENO.

NEW-YORK, Friday, June 13, 1873.

Suspension of the Columbia Bank, Chatham Village.

HUDSON, N. Y., June 13.—The Columbia Bank, at Chatham Village, conducted under the State Banking law by W. A. Woodbridge & Co., has suspended, creating great excitement in the village, as nearly every business man there had money deposited. The utmost confidence was reposed in the institution. The cause of the failure is not made public, but it is supposed that the recent collapse of the Columbia Paper Company involved the bank heavily.

The Polaris Testimony—Neither Inharmony nor Treachery Manifested During the Expedition.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—The testimony of the rescued crew from the Polaris will be put in print as rapidly as possible at the Government Printing Office. It will make over 200 pages of the usual public document octavo size. Capt. Tyson's testimony has just been received from the phonographer, and contains about 25,000 words. Sergt. Myer's statement contains about 20,000 words. The entire mass of testimony is confirmatory of the fact that the separation from the vessel was accidental. There was entire unanimity among the crew and officers in the desire to proceed northward, and the discipline on board the vessel was excellent. All were working in harmony in carrying provisions from the vessel, expecting every moment that she would be jammed and broken between the ice when she separated from the floe, and it was wholly an accidental occurrence, so far as the crew could know, that Buddington himself was not on the ice instead of on the vessel. As an evidence of the good feelings of the rescued toward those who were left on the vessel, it may be mentioned that the entire crew, including every man, Esquimaux and all, have volunteered and asked it as a favor that they may be allowed to return to search for the Polaris when an expedition of search is made. There is substantial uniformity in the statements of the seamen, and the morale is remarked as admirable. A vessel will very soon start for Disco, as already published, to learn anything whatever possible from the Polaris, that may be learned there. But this can hardly be called an expedition of search, as it is only preliminary to such a one if it seems hereafter to be necessary. It has been remarked as very curious that "Joe" should have been sent to Maine. The reason was that his place in Groton, Conn., was under rent, and he did not desire to go there till he could have possession of his own home, and so went with the others. The Tallapoosa was to sail for New-York with a cargo of Government freight on Saturday last, but postponed her departure one day to await the conclusion of the examination of the Esquimaux, in order to take them along. The publication of the testimony is now more than ever demanded to silence brutal, untruthful, and foolish sensations, which will be manufactured as long as possible.

FISH CULTURE.

Information has been received by Prof. Baird, to-day, that 80,000 live shad and 4,000 young eels were sent from the New-York Hatching Establishment, to be placed in Lake Michigan. A car-load of fish, en route to California to be placed in the waters of the Pacific coast, in charge of Livingstone Stone, was in the train that fell through the trestle on the Union Pacific the other day. The car was a total wreck, and another car will be forwarded immediately by United States Fish Commissioner Baird.

CHOLERA FEARS DISSIPATED.

Congressman Marcy, of Louisiana, is in town. He reports that fear of cholera has been removed in New-Orleans, and that there is peace and quiet.

PERSONAL.

Secretary Richardson leaves to-morrow to attend Commencement at Harvard College.

Dispatch to the Associated Press.

THE JAPANESE MINISTER.

Before Mr. Mori left Washington he stated to friends that he had tendered his resignation, but that it was declined, and that after several months' absence he would resume his functions here as diplomatic representative of Japan. Members of the legation express much surprise at the recently published accounts in the newspapers to his detriment, and say that Mr. Mori possesses the entire confidence of his Government. He left Marseilles on the 8th inst., by way of the Isthmus of Suez, for Japan, intending to visit Vienna on his return voyage to the United States.

DUTY ON SILK AND COTTON VELVET RIBBONS.

The question having been referred to the Attorney General, that officer has decided that velvet ribbons made of silk and cotton, are not subject to a duty of sixty per cent. under the eighth section of the Tariff act of 1864, and that they are only subject to a duty of fifty per cent. under that act.

INTERNAL REVENUE RECEIPTS.

The internal revenue receipts to-day were $312,924, making a grand total for the fiscal year to date of $110,077,955, or nearly $78,000 in excess of the estimates. The total receipts this month have been $4,061,736 82, and it is believed that there will be collected during the remainder of the month about four and a half millions more.

CITY POSTAL DELIVERY.

The Postmaster General to-day ordered a station of the Chicago Post-office to be established on the west side, to be known as the West Division Station, the service therein to be commenced July 1. This station will also be a money-order office. Orders were also issued for enlarging the free-delivery system at San Francisco and Cincinnati, authorizing the employment of seven additional carriers in the former city and three in the latter. Also, for the establishment of mail service on the Eastern Railroad of New-Hampshire, between Sanborn's and Wolfboro, a distance of twelve miles, the pay to be fixed hereafter.

NEW-YORK POST-OFFICE.

The Postmaster General to-day approved the plan submitted by the Postmaster of New-York City, Col. James, for determining qualifications of candidates for employment in that office. The plan contemplates competitive examinations, in general conformity to the Civil Service regulations.

RULE OF THE LAND OFFICE.

A private inquiry having been made of the Attorney General on the following subject, the question was referred by him to the General Land Office, and Acting Commissioner Curtis to-day makes this statement as the rule of the Department: If lands have been entered and patented as agricultural, upon which valuable mines were known to exist at the date of such entry, the parties owning such mines are in no way debarred from acquiring the title thereto upon a full compliance with the laws and the instructions regulating the disposal of mineral lands; as by express provisions of law, no title can be acquired to mineral land under the acts regulating the disposal of agricultural land. In all cases where lands have been returned as mineral upon the township plat, or where affidavits were filed with the local land officers alleging that the lands are more valuable for mining than for agricultural purposes, it is the duty of the Register and Receiver to cause a hearing to determine their true character before allowing their entry under the Pre-emption or Homestead laws.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE OF A PRIEST.

The body of a drowned man was found this morning at 10 o'clock in the Potomac River. It was removed to the station-house, and was there recognized as Father Anthony Grim, a French Catholic Priest. He arrived here about six months ago from the Indian country, where he had been serving as a missionary. For some weeks past he stopped at Providence Hospital, an institution under the charge of the Sisters of Charity, and went out early this morning, it was thought for a walk, and was not seen again until his body was recovered. He is believed to have committed suicide while laboring under temporary insanity. No inquest was deemed necessary, and the remains were turned over to his friends of the church for burial.

The Claims of Ex-Sheriff O'Brien.

Messrs. Vermilye, Calwalader, and Booth, the Commissioners appointed by the Governor to audit and adjust the claims of ex-Sheriff James O'Brien against the County of New-York, met yesterday at the new Court-house. Controller Green was also present at the meeting. At the request of counsel for the ex-Sheriff, who stated he was not prepared to go on with the case, an adjournment until Wednesday next at 3 o'clock was taken, when the proceedings will be opened and testimony taken on both sides.

THE TURF.

American Jockey Club.

This is the third day of the races at Jerome Park, and there is every indication of the sport being unexceptionable. Saturday is the great day for the races in this City, and if the weather remains fine a great crowd may be expected at the "course in the vale." Four races are on the programme to furnish amusement for the spectators, the first of which is a dash of a mile and a quarter for three-year olds, with a penalty of five pounds to the winner of the Ladies' Stakes, and ten pounds to the winner of the Belmont. In this are entered Jas. A. Grimstead's ch. f. Elcair, by Lightning, out of Brenna by imp. Knight of St. George; M. A. Littell's ch. c. Fellow Craft, by imp. Australian, out of Aerolite, by Lexington; J. W. Pennock's ch. c. by Planet, out of Rebecca T. Price, by The Colonel; A. B. Lewis & Co.'s b. c. Joe Johnston, by Hunter's Lexington, dam by Oliver; John F. Chamberlin's b. c. Survivor, by Vandal, dam by Lexington; D. D. Withers' imp. b. c. Stonehenge, by Blair Athol, out of Coimbra, by King Tom, and McFadden, by Lightning, out of Nora Creina, by Mahomet. This is a fine field, and from the betting last night the connoisseurs consider the chances of Survivor and Joe Johnston the best. Both of them have won races, and the contest will be close and exciting. The second affair will be a dash of a mile and three-quarters for all ages, in which Hubbard, Mate, and John Boulger are entered, and the betting shows Mate to be the favorite, principally on account of his good running in the Fordham Handicap. The great event of the day, however, will be the race for the Westchester Cup. There are eighteen entries in the stake, and five of them have been posted as starters, viz.: John F. Chamberlin's b. c. True Blue, 4 years, by Lexington, out of Balloon, by imp. Yorkshire; Thomas W. Doswell's b. h. Eolus 5 years, by imp. Leamington, out of Fanny Washington; J. W. Pennock's b. c., 4 years, by Vandal, out of Margravine, by Margrave, and Rice and McCormack's pair, Wanderer, 5 years, by Lexington, out of Coral, by Vandal, and Bessie Lee, 4 years, by Hunter's Lexington, dam by Chorister. A hurdle-race of a mile and three quarters over seven hurdles will have three starters, viz.: Lochiel, 154 pounds; Victor, 148 pounds, and Village Blacksmith, 156 pounds. There was, as usual, a large attendance of speculators at the subscription-rooms of the Jockey Club last night, and the betting was exceedingly heavy, as will be seen from the subjoined quotations:

WESTCHESTER CUP.
Wanderer. Bessie Lee.	$325	$305	$285
Eolus	165	260	215
True Blue	160	200	235

Trotting at Fleetwood Park.

A close and exciting match, for $500, came off at Fleetwood Park yesterday, between Geo. N. Ferguson's ch. g. James K. Polk and W. Lovell's b. m. Topey. Polk was the favorite at $50 to $25 before the start, and after he had won the first heat he brought $50 to $15 for the mare. He won the second heat, but Topey captured the next three and the race.

SUMMARY.

FLEETWOOD PARK, Morrisania, Friday, June 13.—Match $500, mile heats, best three in five, in harness.

D. Pfifer's b. m. Topey	2	2	1	1	1
G. N. Ferguson's ch. g. James K. Polk	1	1	2	2	2

Time—2:32, 2:31½, 2:34¼, 2:38, 2:38.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Races—Brisk Trotting.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., June 13.—At 10 o'clock this morning the races left unfinished yesterday were decided in one heat each. In the Kent County race, for a purse of $300, Valley City Maid took the first money, Kate Messenger the second, Kittie H. the third, and Lady Bell the fourth. In the race for a purse of $1,700, Young Princeton was given the first money, Kate Hazard the second, Kittie G. the third, and Vaughan the fourth.

This afternoon's races resulted as follows: The purse of $1,500, for horses that have never beaten 2:40, was won by Vaughan; Frank Palmer second, Hattie Fawcett third, and Lady Ida fourth. Time, 2:39¼, 2:43½, 2:39¼, and 2:45.

The race for four-year-olds and under, owned in this county, was won by Brown Nellie, in two straight heats; George Palmer second, and Clara Bell third. Time, 3:28 and 3:31½.

The race for the purse of $2,500, for horses that have never beaten 2:21, was won by Fred Hooper in three straight heats. Pilot Temple second, and Bynar third. Western Boy was distanced in the first heat.

The fair closed to-day with a largely-increased attendance.

Lockport Driving Park Races—Second Day.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., June 13.—There was beautiful weather and increased attendance at the races here to-day.

The purse of $500 for horses that never trotted better than 2:50 was won by Factory Boy. Best time, 2:40.

The purse of $500 for horses that never trotted better than 2:33 was won by Spotted Colt. Best time, 2:33¼.

The purse of $600, running mile and a half heats, was won by Bazaine. Best time, 2:51.

Sale of Trotting Thoroughbreds in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 13.—The sale of the thoroughbred stock of S. B. Whipple, at San Mateo, closed to-day, aggregating $120,000. Harvest Queen brought $16,500; Hambletonian, $10,150; Speculation, $8,500. The cattle, generally, brought large, and some fancy, prices. Ajax was not sold.

The Donnell Estate—Another Alleged Private Marriage Contract.

The case of Eliza S. Donnell against Ezekial Donnell, executor of the estate of James Donnell, to recover dower, as the widow of the deceased, is now on trial before Judge Monell, in Supreme Court Special Term. The case, which has been already noticed in THE TIMES on a former proceeding, presents features very similar to the Brinckley case. Plaintiff claims that she had a private agreement of marriage with the deceased, and lived with him for years acknowledged as his wife. Defendant admits cohabitation between plaintiff and deceased, but denies a marriage or any acknowledgment thereof by deceased. The estate amounts to about $100,000.

The Opening of North Thirteenth-Street.

The Law Committee of the Common Council, last evening, considered the proposition to open North Thirteenth-street, Williamsburg, to the bulkhead line on the East River. The water-front is at present used exclusively by the owners of Pratt's Oil-works, and other manufacturers of the section are clamorous for a share in the use of the dock. The opening will cost $150,000, and the assessment will be levied on the six wards of Williamsburg. The committee decided to visit the locality before coming to any conclusion.

The City Printing.

The question of awarding the City printing to one of the numerous bidders for the work was again the subject of discussion in the Mayor's office. The bid of Mr. P. W. Rhodes was found to be the lowest, and after some discussion it was intimated to him that if he could justify in the required amount his bid would be accepted. The final arrangement of the contract was afterward postponed to 2 o'clock P. M. to-day, and Mr. Rhodes, it is understood, must justify in the meantime. Should he fail in so doing, the work will be given to the next lowest bidder.

The Climax of Meanness.

As David Wardell, of No. 715½ Greenwich-street, was standing on the pier at the foot of West Tenth-street, last evening, he saw a little fellow fall into the river from the barge Caledonia, and, without a moment's hesitation, threw off his coat, and, at the risk of his own life, boldly plunged into the water and brought the boy safely out, when, to his utter dismay, he discovered that some mean scoundrel had walked off with his coat.

WEST POINT.

Presenting the Diplomas to the Cadets—Addresses of the Secretary of War and Gen. Sherman.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WEST POINT, Friday, June 13, 1873.

The ceremony of presenting the diplomas to the graduated cadets took place this morning, on the beautiful open lawn under the trees in front of the library. At 11 o'clock, the cadets of the second, third, and fourth classes, with their arms and accoutrements, marched from the barracks and took their places in two lines, to the right and left, in front of the seats upon which President Grant sat, with Secretary of War Belknap on his right, and the General of the Armies, Gen. Sherman on the left. Gen. Ruger, the Superintendent of the Academy, and Col. Hall, the Adjutant, sat at another table a little in the rear. The academic and the military staffs of the academy, the Board of Visitors, many distinguished army officers and guests, and young ladies and gentlemen, friends of the cadets, were also present. To the music of the band the cadets took their places on either side, the graduating class, without arms, being drawn up facing the President and the officers. The air was cool and balmy, and the scene was a beautiful one, the varied handsome uniforms of the young soldiers and the veteran officers, and the bright dresses of the ladies harmonizing well with the lovely natural surroundings, every little detail of which added to the charm.

After a patriotic air from the band and a brief prayer from the chaplain, Gen. Ruger announced that the Secretary of War had consented to deliver the address to the graduates. Gen. Belknap then rose and spoke as follows, being listened to with the greatest attention, and applauded at the close of his remarks:

GENTLEMEN—GRADUATES OF 1873: Months come and go so rapidly; the band on the dial moves, seemingly, so much faster as the seasons roll along—the line between youth and manhood is so slight and so suddenly and quickly crossed—that one can scarcely realize that another year has been added to the age of this academy; and but for these surroundings we could scarce believe that again the student has become the graduate.

I hardly know how to vary the formal routine of an occasion of this kind, or in what language to tell you of the high honor of your calling, and of the burdens you will have to bear. And yet you must give me pardon if I say a word or two of plainest truth. It is, perhaps, a thankless task to tell you that the amount of real knowledge you possess is as nothing compared with the information you will gain by contact with the world, and in the performance of regimental duty. And yet the experience of years will convince you, and the trials of time will teach, that what you did not know at graduation would fill large pages in very many volumes. The education here freely given you forms but the foundation for the future, and is only a part of your path of progress in military life. The active service of campaigns, the new scenes among which you will be thrown, the actual quiet and apparent indolence, at times, of garrison life, will all have their benefits, and the lessons they bring, if rightly studied, will strengthen your manhood and fasten your faith in the direction of right and duty. And though it may seem that the mere performance of daily work has no recompense save in the soldier's own consciousness of right, still it is grateful to know that the judgment of the people will commend the earnest man wherever he be found. It is a solemn thought that a man whose toil of many years has been passed in the service, whose youth, whose manhood, and whose maturer age have been given, with rare devotion to his country—who has, with life unharmed in the havoc of battle, gone through fight and siege and long days of danger—should die by the hand of an Indian murderer; yet his character was such that every house mentions his name as noble. His very life gives you patterns to follow and models to imitate. Loyal in every sense, and firmly true in peace or war, generations will come and go ere the nation will forget the beautiful and beloved memory of Canby.

The profession which you enter has noble aims, high purposes, and every incentive to ambition. The great war, which tied more closely than ever the bonds of union, gave to army men so many avenues of rank and promotion and fame that the calm and quiet of the present may seem to the young soldier to offer no page of history to him in which to write his name. But it is not so. A land like this—growing to its 40,000,000 in a century, fastening ocean to ocean by triple bands of iron, lengthening its lines as it has, and extending its borders to the North and to the South, as in the nature of its destiny it must—may offer opportunities for distinction to an extent far greater than you may hope. I admit that my heart thrilled with pleasure when I read, a few days since, the order issued by the distinguished commander of the Department of Arizona, mentioning the conduct of the officers and men of his command. Memory went back to the Summers when I spoke parting words to your comrades of other classes; for that order sent to history, for conspicuous services and gallantry in action, the names of Bomus and Parkhurst and Michler and Hein and Schuyler and Brodie and Watts. All nations throughout time have honored their brave soldiers, and these men have thus early made their mark.

Within a short time the War Department has been placed in possession of a vast amount of documents of the Revolution, consisting largely of letters of Washington and other prominent military men. Among them is a letter from Arnold, written thirty-four days before he consigned his name to infamy, and while the promptings of his heart were still loyal to the cause of the Colonies. Writing from West Point to Col. Pickering, Quartermaster General, at Philadelphia, he states "that there is not a tent or any kind of camp equipage at this poverty-struck place," that "the Quartermaster's Department is entirely empty," and that "there is only one camp-kettle to eighty or 100 men." He complains bitterly of the situation, and begs Col. Pickering to apply a remedy, adding as a postscript to his letter: "There is not a quire of paper or one article of stationery at this post or in the department." Col. Pickering replies: "I am unhappy to inform you that I have not yet received one farthing of money for any purpose whatever, nor can get any, there being none in the Treasury, and the articles cannot be supplied." "You shall hear from me again as soon as I get to headquarters, which shall be when I can obtain money enough to defray the expenses of my journey." How much this tells of the privations and trials of the men of early days! and how it illustrates the poverty through which the nation worked its way to freedom!

It is my pleasant and becoming duty to allude to the impression made on all by the manly conduct of the members of this corps, on the occasion of their visit to the Presidential Inauguration. By your gentlemanly and soldierly bearing you honored that laurel-crowned leader—himself a son of West Point—you turned rebuke into praise, made friends of foes, and brought to your commanders, to your professors, and to the academy the regard and friendly influence of thousands of the people.

Each year I am more and more impressed with the wisdom which governed the founders of this institution, when they laid its corner-stone upon this spot. Its name brings back the teachings of our childhood's history, when we read of the Revolution. The associations which connect this ground with the words and deeds of the early men of the Republic, make its precincts sacred. These mountains, solid as the hearts of those men, who, in the beginning of the nation, encamped under their shadows, now, as then, stand like sturdy sentinels on guard; and the waves of this beautiful Hudson, as they wash the shore, seem in each sound to have some story to tell of the patriotic past. These influences mold the minds of men and strengthen their love of country. From the attractive groves of this academy you go to other scenes. The hour has come. Friends wait to welcome you. The hearts of those who love you, whose tenderest affections are wrapped up in your well-doing, beat more quickly now than ever. Be true to the teachings given you here. Cling to the flag as you would to life itself. Whenever you look upon it remember that it waved the armies of the Union to victory, and though it may have drooped in disaster, its colors were always brighter when it rose. This whole assembly gives you farewell greeting, and joins with myself in wishing for you the true soldier's honor and his great reward hereafter.

Gen. Ruger then announced that the President had consented to deliver the diplomas, and that the graduates would advance to receive them, their names being called in the order of merit in which the Examiner had decided. The following list, with the number of the graduate, was then read, each one marching singly to the President's desk, uncovered, and receiving his certificate with a bow.

No.	Name.	No.	Name.

When all the diplomas had been presented, Gen. Ruger announced that the General of the Armies had consented to deliver a few words of advice to the class.

Gen. Sherman said, speaking impromptu, explaining that he had not expected to take part in the ceremonies:

It is extremely grateful to me to welcome you upon the very threshold of the army into the armies of the United States. You have now your diplomas. You are no longer boys; you are, to all intents and purposes, officers and leaders of men. I wish you were gathered around me with not so many learned and distinguished men listening to me, and with not so many ladies to distract your attention, so that I might tell you some simple truths to aid you in your profession, not, however, to submerge you with good advice. I welcome you cordially. You must be willing to work. We will not overtask you, and if you have more knowledge than is recorded in the books here, cherish it, for you will need it all. If you have wit, bring it to cheer us in our solitary homes on the Western Plains; but if you have sarcasm, bury it forever, for it loses you friends. Wit is one thing, sarcasm is another; we want none of it in the army.

In our profession of arms we think that in America we have the finest field of any country on earth. All governments are very similar, and of three distinct parts—one to make the laws, usually a representative body; one to interpret them, wise and good men; and the third to execute them. You form part of the executive, but by no means the whole. It is your duty to execute the laws as they come from those who make them, without thought, without hesitation or explanation. It is a simple task, but sometimes very difficult, and calling for the highest knowledge. You may regret that your lot has been cast in times of profound peace. Thirty-three years ago I thought so, and the President thought so, too. There were peace congresses and peace resolutions everywhere, and the Quakers were predominant then as now. Then came the trouble with our neighbor, and there was considerable war in Mexico. Then he and I both left the armies and adopted other professions. But soon arose a war mighty among the wars of the past. Military knowledge more than we had learned was called for then, and there was no time to refer to the books or consult our professors. So it may occur in your time—I hope and pray it may not be—but it is your duty to be prepared for it. We have some little elements of disorder. We have the Indians and we have 4,000,000 of blacks to secure in their rights of citizenship. We have neighbors to the north and south of us, and there are plenty of people who want part of this land. There are continual troubles in Arizona and New-Mexico, and I should be glad if we could compel Mexico to take back these territories.

After admonishing the graduates that the soldier must relinquish all pursuit of wealth, he concluded by saying that glory is the soldier's wealth. It is true now, it will be true a hundred years hence—aye, to the end of all time.

After the benediction was pronounced the assemblage slowly dispersed, the graduates to be surrounded by their friends and congratulated, and to put on civilian's dress by way of novelty. One of them was seen, not long afterward, on the piazza at Cozzens', with the plainest of plain clothing on, his hat on the back of his head, his coat unbuttoned, his hands in his pockets, and ferociously whistling, looking as if he was thoroughly enjoying the relaxation from military primness in dress, to which he had been forced for four years past. It is the only time I have ever seen a cadet daring to indulge in the boyish pleasure of whistling.

The second-class cadets now become the first, and from their ranks and their companions of the other classes will be made the appointments of cadet officers to take the places of graduates. At the conclusion of the examination of the junior classes, they will go into encampment, and affairs at the Point will settle down to the usual Summer life here, with plenty of private picnic parties, tri-weekly hops in the academy building and at the hotels—the first one being held at Cozzens', to-night, by the way—and the regular annual round of pleasures and small excitements.

Yachting and Rowing Notes.

The Union prize for schooners in the Brooklyn Regatta was won by the Fleur de Lis, she being the only schooner besides the Madeleine that sailed the course. She passed the home stake-boat on Thursday, at 9:25 P. M.

The regatta of the Seawanhaka (Oyster Bay, Long Island,) Yacht Club, is set down for July 4.

The annual regatta of the Columbia Yacht Club will be sailed on June 30.

Mr. H. Bushen and Mr. J. Minugh, of the Communipaw Rowing Club, will row a three-mile sculling race to-day, at Communipaw, for a prize valued at $200.

Mr. Charles S. Osborne, of the Columbia Boat Club, and Capt. Church, of the Nereids, are matched to row a three-mile sculling race on Gowanus Bay, on June 12.

The sculling race between J. Biglin and Ellis Ward will be rowed at Springfield, July 15.

New-York Yacht Club.

The following document explains itself:

NEW-YORK, June 13, 1873.

C. A. Minton, Esq., Secretary N. Y. Y. C.:

DEAR SIR: Mr. Waller, the owner of the sloop yacht Gracie, notified a member of the Regatta Committee on Sunday, (that having been the earliest opportunity he had of doing so,) that there was no member of the club on board his yacht on Friday last, when the regatta was sailed. The committee consequently awards the time allowance sloop prize to the sloop yacht Vixen. Yours respectfully,

FLETCHER WESTRAY,
WILLIAM KREBS,
EDWARD E. CHASE,
Regatta Committee.

The Cornell University Investigation—McGuire Not Present.

From the Ithaca Journal, June 12.

Hon. Ezra Cornell returned to-day from Albany, where he had been to attend the appointed meeting of the Commissioners named by Gov. Dix, to investigate the McGuire charges. The Commissioners, ex Gov. Horatio Seymour, Hon. W. A. Wheeler, and Hon. J. D. Van Buren, were present. But little was done beyond reading the joint resolutions of the Legislature under which the commission was appointed, and arranging for procuring information from various sources, including that which Mr. Cornell proposed to present. Gov. Seymour, by request of the commission, is to correspond with the Executives of the several States, in regard to the disposition of the scrip apportioned to each State respectively, and also for other information touching the subjects which the commission are expected to investigate. Gov. Seymour and Mr. Wheeler expressed themselves that it would probably be impossible for them to give the subject much attention before early in August, but as Major Van Buren was at leisure, he was empowered to visit our village and make a thorough and exhaustive examination of the University here, and he will enter upon that duty next week. Although requested by Gov. Seymour, Chairman of the Commission, by special letter, Jerry McGuire found it very convenient not to show his face at the meeting.

The Stokes Case—Arrest of the Three Principal Witnesses.

Acting under orders issued by District Attorney Phelps, Capt. Byrnes, of the Fifteenth Precinct, last night arrested John F. Redmond, and John and Thomas Hart, the three principal witnesses in the Stokes case. It will be remembered that the Harts and Redmond were on the previous trials the principal witnesses for the prosecution, having witnessed the shooting of Fisk. They were locked up in the House of Detention.

The Pope and Poland.

The Journal de Florence mentions a rumor that the Pope in his interview with the Empress of Russia said to her Majesty: "I have to fulfill a great duty, and I address myself to your exalted intellect and your generous heart—I must speak of Poland. I am far from wishing to interfere in the question of the government of that nation, but ought to demand of your Majesty that religious liberty be granted to it. That liberty is necessary—it is desired by God, and is not only the right of the Catholic people of Poland, but it would also be for the good of the Russian Empire and dynasty." The Pope is said to have warmly and eloquently dwelt upon this subject. The Empress, in reply, promised to transmit the speech of the Pope to the Emperor, and to plead the cause of religious liberty for the Polish Catholics.

Edwin Forrest's Estate—The Official Inventory.

The effect most desirable from use of a sauce is, that it makes the article in which or upon which it is eaten taste well. The HALFORD LEICESTERSHIRE TABLE SAUCE is the very best of relishes.—Advertisement.

Imitators and their Schemes come to grief at last. Only original discoveries, like that of Dr. Helmbold, stand the test of time. Helmbold's Buchu, which is the only extract of that wonderful shrub that realizes its full virtues, is still relied upon to cure Kidney Complaint, Female Disorders, Impotency, Gravel, the effects of dissipation and all troubles of the urinary organs in either sex. This steadily successful medicine is recommended by physicians. Beware of counterfeits. JOHN F. HENRY, New-York, Sole Agent.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.
SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,
SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC,
SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS,

are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption.

Frequently medicines that will stop a cough will occasion the death of the patient. They lock up the liver, stop the circulation of the blood, hemorrhage follows, and, in fact, they clog the action of the very organs that caused the cough.

Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia are the causes of two-thirds of the cases of Consumption. Many persons complain of a dull pain in the side, constipation, coated tongue, pain in the shoulder-blade, feelings of drowsiness and restlessness, the food lying heavily on the stomach, accompanied with acidity and belching up of wind.

These symptoms usually originate from a disordered condition of the stomach or a torpid liver.

Persons so affected, if they take one or two heavy colds, and if the cough in these cases be suddenly checked, will find the stomach and liver clogged, remaining torpid and inactive, and almost before they are aware the lungs are a mass of sores and ulcerated, the result of which is death.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup is an expectorant which does not contain opium, or anything calculated to check a cough suddenly.

Schenck's Sea-weed Tonic dissolves the food, mixes with the gastric juices of the stomach, aids digestion, and creates a ravenous appetite.

When the bowels are costive, skin sallow, or the symptoms otherwise of a bilious tendency, Schenck's Mandrake Pills are required.

These medicines are prepared only by
J. H. SCHENCK & SON,

DR. SHERMAN TO THE RUPTURED.

Dr. SHERMAN respectfully informs his patients and the public that he has returned from California, and may be consulted daily by those wishing to obtain the benefit of his system of relieving and curing rupture. Attention is called to the views of Dr. Stone, the celebrated surgeon and founder of Stone's Hospital, New-Orleans, La., on the injuries resulting from long-continued use of trusses. He says:

"Trusses undermine the constitution just as certain as the perpetual dripping of water wears away a stone. The force of the front pad upon the abdomen affects the bladder, and coming in contact, as it of necessity does, with the ligament tendons and spermatic cords, impairs their important functions to such an extent as to bring on the most mortifying condition of imbecility, peevishness, and dejection of spirits, while the pressure across the lower part of the spine is productive of back-ache, lumbago, and kidney diseases. These complicated affections produced by using trusses compel the unfortunate, sooner or later, to look upon life as dispelling rather than inviting pleasure."

All the objections of the truss are overcome in the applications made in Dr. SHERMAN'S method of cure, and the parts injured by the use of the trusses restored to natural vigor and healthfulness.

Those who are ruptured should see Dr. SHERMAN personally, as his great experience, after thirty years' constant devotion to this specialty, is very valuable in view of relief and cure.

His book on rupture, illustrated with photograph likenesses of bad cases before and after cure, he mails for ten cents. It contains valuable information for the ruptured.

Dr. SHERMAN is permitted to refer to reliable gentlemen in this City who have been cured by this treatment. Dr. SHERMAN'S office, No. 697 Broadway, New-York.

JULIAN HAWTHORNE'S NEW NOVEL.

BRESSANT.
A NOVEL.
By JULIAN HAWTHORNE.

1 vol., 12mo. Cloth......Price, $1 50

From the London Examiner.

We will not say that Mr. Julian Hawthorne has received a double portion of his father's spirit, but "Bressant" proves that he has inherited the distinctive tone and fibre of a gift which was altogether exceptional, and moved the author of the "Scarlet Letter" beyond the reach of imitators.

"Bressant," "Sophie," and "Cornelia," appear to us invested with a sort of enchantment which we should find it difficult to account for by any reference to any special passage in their story.

From the London Athenæum.

Mr. Hawthorne's book forms a remarkable contrast, in point of power and interest, to the dreary mass of so-called romances through which the reviewer works his way. It is not our purpose to forestall the reader by any detailed account of the story; suffice it to say that, if we can accept the preliminary difficulty of the problem, its solution, in all its steps, is most admirably worked out.

From the Rockford Register.

The new story, "Bressant," is the most powerful psychological work of the country. It was reserved for the younger Hawthorne to inherit a perception which surpasses second-sight, and a genius for purely psychical analysis which has never before been seen among us.

AMERICAN TRAVEL MADE EASY!
MORFORD'S
SHORT-TRIP GUIDE TO AMERICA.
ENLARGED EDITION FOR 1873.
NOW READY.

THE MOST COMPLETE GUIDE EVER PUBLISHED, TO THE WATERING-PLACES, THE SEA-COASTS, THE MOUNTAINS, THE WEST, AND THE PACIFIC ROADS TO AND IN CALIFORNIA.

A critical opinion from the polished book-editor of the Graphic, in which paper it has not been considered profitable to insert any advertisement of MORFORD'S GUIDE BOOKS, repeatedly solicited:

"There is almost as much information in the book as beauty in a bare bean-pole * * Many of the places he has not mentioned are quite the most interesting. Not a bad rule would be to carefully visit the places he does not mention."

PER CONTRA.

A critical opinion from Dr. Shelton Mackenzie, literary editor of the Philadelphia Press, who has no ax to grind:

"Your 'Short-Trip' books are the best of all the pocket-guides. You are quite at liberty to use my name as authority for this opinion at any time when their beneficial influence can be extended by it."

A NOVEL—NOVEL AND SOMETHING MORE
IS THE NEW BOOK.
A REED SHAKEN WITH THE WIND.
A LOVE STORY.
By EMILY FAITHFULL.

A portraiture of a girl "fair and favored," but fickle as the wind in her fancies, and a story with a telling moral. The book is something more. It is a charming revelation of social life in English homes of the "genteel class," as well as of life and experience in Rome, reading like stray leaves from "Corinne." Altogether a sweet, good book, that women especially will be the better for the reading.

A new edition just ready for the trade. One vol. 12mo, cloth extra. Price $1 50.

DAVID COPPERFIELD.

The third volume of "Carleton's New Illustrated Edition" of CHARLES DICKENS' WORKS—"Pickwick Papers," "Oliver Twist," and "David Copperfield," are now ready, to be followed by one volume each month until all are out.

This beautiful new edition of the works of Charles Dickens has, from the start, taken its stand at the head of all other editions, and is growing more and more popular, being universally conceded to be the handiest and cheapest edition issued, either in this country or Europe. _ Handsomely printed and bound in cloth. Price $1 50 per volume.

"BETSEY AND I ARE OUT."

A Thanksgiving Story in Verse, by Mrs. N. S. EMERSON. Embodying the famous ballad of "Betsey and I are Out." _ Beautifully bound; price $1 50.

The sweet and touching poems with which this remarkable volume is filled, not less than the exciting controversy regarding Mrs. Emerson's claims as author of "Betsey and I are Out," is creating an enormous sale for the book. The new edition contains the author's famous answer, "How Husband and I Made Up," which is even better than "Betsey and I are Out."

REAL ESTATE TRANSACTIONS.

At the Exchange yesterday, June 13, only a small amount of business was transacted, the particulars relating to which are as follows: D. M. Seaman sold, by order of Charles E. Applebey, for noncompletion of contract, four lots of land situate on the west side of Eleventh-avenue, 25.5 feet south of Fifty-seventh-street, Thomas Jones being the purchaser, for the sum of $24,000. E. H. Ludlow & Co. offered at an upset price the two three-story buildings and lots known as Nos. 142 and 144 Baxter-street, north side, 225 feet west of Grand-street; no bid above the limit was made by any person present, and the property was withdrawn from sale. William Kennelly offered the two-story brick house and lot, 20 by 100, known as No. 550 Clinton-street, Brooklyn, north side, 60 feet east of Nelson-street; C. Wilson bought it in for the owner's account for $4,650. No other business was transacted at the Exchange.

THURSDAY'S SUBURBAN AUCTIONS.

The suburban auctions held on the premises on Thursday last resulted as follows:

Jere. Johnson, Jr., sold on the premises at Marion, N. J., by order of the Marion Building Company, eighty-eight lots of land and eight cottages for an aggregate of $76,150. The building known as the St. James Hotel was offered at an upset price and afterward withdrawn from sale on a bid of $50,000.

A. D. Mellick, Jr., & Bro., sold on the grounds at Springfield, N. J., 121 lots of land for an aggregate of $12,609 60. The details of both of the above sales will be found in tabular form below.

A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co. sold by order of the Supreme Court, at Vanderbilt's Landing, Staten Island, a house and twenty-one acres of land, situate at Northfield, Richmond County, Staten Island, W. K. Thorne being the purchaser for $5,000.

TO-DAY'S AUCTIONS.

The auctions for to-day, (Saturday,) June 14, noticed, are as follows:

By A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co., at Fordham, Westchester County, on the property, at 1 o'clock, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, R. M. Harison, Esq., referee, of a plot of seventeen lots, with stone house thereon, eight of the lots fronting on Fordham-avenue and the other seven on Railroad-avenue.

By Jere. Johnson, Jr., and Nicholas Mooney, at Rahway, N. J., on the property, at 3 o'clock, public auction sale of the following houses and lots: House and lot on Seminary-street, known as Turner Hall; house and lot, corner of Main and Coach streets; house and lot on Main street, adjoining; two houses and lots on Coach-street, in rear; house and lot on Cherry-street; house and lot on Milton-avenue; house and lot on Elm-avenue; house and lot on Edgar-street; twenty lots on Elm-avenue, Whittier and Bryant streets; three lots on Campbell-street, and three lots on Grand-street, corner of Allen-street.

This sale will close the week's business.

The Building Record.

For the week ending with Friday, June 13, plans for new buildings have been submitted, and unsafe buildings reported at the Department, No. 2 Fourth-avenue, W. W. Adams, Superintendent, as follows:

CITY REAL ESTATE.

15 EAST 49TH-ST., NEAR 5TH-AV.

For sale, in 49th-st., just east of 5th-av., a beautiful four-story brown-stone house, 17x60 feet. Has been recently overhauled in the most thorough manner; the plumbing-work, mantels, &c., being all new and of the best quality, and is tastefully decorated; lot 100.5 feet in depth.

The owner will sell the house with the handsome fixtures and furniture, or the house and lot can be bought without the furniture. We would recommend it to the attention of any one desiring to purchase an attractive house in the best location in New-York, at a very reasonable price. To a professional man it would be especially desirable. A comparatively small amount of cash to be paid down.

For further particulars and permits apply to
E. H. LUDLOW & CO.,
No. 3 Pine-st. and No. 35 East 17th-st.

COUNTRY REAL ESTATE.

ROYAL LEAMINGTON SPA, WARWICKSHIRE, ENGLAND.—Messrs. COOKES & SONS, of Royal Leamington Spa, a town in Great Britain noted for its salubrity and the efficacious results of its mineral waters, nearly placed in the centre of England, within three hours of the metropolis, and equidistant from Manchester, Liverpool, and Southampton—have to SELL by PRIVATE CONTRACT, a noble detached family mansion in the modern style of Gothic architecture, in the best part of the Royal Spa, within a few minutes of the parades, river, baths, and the parish and Catholic churches. It has a south aspect, and faces the public gardens of the town. There are seven or eight reception-rooms, and thirteen best bedrooms, with nine servants' sleeping apartments. The whole of the appointments are first-rate. The residence was designed by that eminent Gothic architect, Pugin, whose name is so closely associated with the resuscitation of the domestic Gothic of England of the present day. The drainage is perfect, and the grounds surrounding the residence are well inclosed. There are two vineries, a conservatory, and two forcing-houses. Stabling, with loose boxes for five horses, turret clock, groom's cottage, large coach-house, &c. It is within reach of four good packs of hounds. Royal Leamington Spa is one of the healthiest spots in the kingdom; its death-rate, according to the Registrar General's report, is lower than that of any other town, and, from its historical and poetical attractions, it commands the attention of the archæologist, the geologist, botanist, and valetudinarian. Stratford-upon-Avon, the Mecca of every one's pilgrimage, is within an easy drive, as also Warwick Castle, Stoneleigh Abbey, and other resorts of absorbing interest. Full particulars, and plans and photographs of the mansion may be obtained of Messrs. COOKES & SONS, at the Midland Counties Estate, Land, and House Agency Offices, No. 32 Warwick-st., Leamington, Warwickshire, England.

ON THE BERKSHIRE HILLS, AT Pittsfield, Mass.—A very desirable residence, within two miles of the Pittsfield Station, on the upper plateau, on the road leading to the New-Lebanon Springs, from which and Columbia Hall it is three to four miles distant, situated on the beautiful Lake Onota. The grounds contain sixty acres, mostly in grass, with shade and fruit trees in abundance. The dwelling contains fifteen rooms, with bath-room, &c.; a good farm-house; two stables, with large accommodations for stock and large barn for farm products. The grounds border on the lake about a fourth of a mile. The house is on an elevation, commanding a beautiful view of the lake with Graylock Mountains in the distance, and is considered one of the loveliest and most beautiful situations in Berkshire. The lake is over two miles long, and affords fine boating, fishing, and duck-shooting. Pittsfield is accessible by Boston and Albany Railroad, the Housatonic Road, North Adams, and Northern Vermont Road. The house is finely furnished, and can be sold with or without the furniture. Price, without furniture, $75,000; terms easy; furniture can be bought at a fair valuation. Apply to HOMER MORGAN, No. 2 Pine-st.

ON THE HUDSON, NEARLY OPPOSITE the City of Hudson—A modern Gothic brick house, commanding fine mountain and river views, finished in hard wood, with an elegant lawn sloping to the river; an abundance of rare and valuable shade-trees, walks, &c.; summer-house, greenhouse, forcing-house, barn, carriage-house, and twenty-five acres of land, upon which are 2,200 choice grapevines, 250 pear-trees, 400 apple-trees, 2,700 currants, besides a valuable lot of small fruits, with everything necessary for shipping the fruits to market; dock on the place. Price, $30,000. Terms very easy. The improvements cost more than the price asked. The property must be sold to settle an estate. The revenue derived from the fruit will pay more than ten per cent.
JACOB SHARPE, No. 149 Broadway.

FOR SALE,
AT NYACK, ON HUDSON,

TWO MILLION DOLLARS.

GREAT CLOSING OUT TRUSTEES' SALE OF REAL AND PERSONAL PROPERTY, Belonging to the
CHICAGO LAND COMPANY,
AT PUBLIC AUCTION,
ON WEDNESDAY,
THE 18TH DAY OF JUNE, 1873.

By the articles of the association of said company, it is provided that all the property in the hands of the trustees in the month of June, 1873, must be sold at auction for cash, to close the trust.

The realty is centrally located in the CITY OF CHICAGO, and is valued at $1,300,000, and composed largely of river and canal frontage, docked and ready for immediate use. Also, a large number of vacant lots in the immediate vicinity of the docks, all well adapted for business purposes.

The title to this property is unquestioned, having been held and owned by the association for twenty years.

The personal property consists of notes bearing seven per cent. interest, having from one to five years to run, and amounting to about $700,000. These notes were received for deferred payments on land bought from the company by the makers thereof, and their payment is secured by mortgage on the same. TERMS OF SALE CASH. The personal property will be ready for transfer and delivery immediately after the sale. Purchasers of realty will be required to make a deposit on the day of sale of ten per cent. on the amount of their purchases, the balance to be paid within thirty days, or as soon after the sale as deeds can be made out and delivered.

MAHLON D. OGDEN,
L. S. BEECHER, } Trustees.
GEORGE WATSON,

H. B. BOGUE, Secretary.
CHICAGO, March 12, 1873.

Office south-west corner Lake and Clark sts., Room No. 3, second floor.

The above peremptory and closing-out sale of the Chicago Land Company by auction, will positively take place on WEDNESDAY MORNING, June 18, 1873, at 10 o'clock, on the grounds, commencing at East Division-street Bridge.

FINANCIAL.

FOR INVESTMENT.

It is universally conceded that carefully-selected FIRST MORTGAGE RAILROAD BONDS are not only SAFE, but are the MOST DESIRABLE SECURITIES for investment purposes. It is also an established fact that there are fewer instances of default in the Railroad than in any other of the great interests of the country.

These facts have been accepted as applying to the securities of Railroads generally, but they apply with greatly increased force in cases where the Roads have superior advantages in location, management and connections.

The Indianapolis, Bloomington, and Western Railway possesses all the advantages here named, and has, in addition, a very large business already created and assured to it. The BONDS of this road now offered are GOLD, SEVEN PER CENT., CONVERTIBLE, are FULLY SECURED by a FIRST MORTGAGE on an extension of 217 miles, and are a liability of the entire line of 420 miles, of which four-fifths are completed.

The geographical position of the road is remarkably favorable. Commencing at Indianapolis its direction is west, and diverging at Champaign it has terminal points at Peoria on the Illinois River and on the Mississippi opposite Keokuk.

Net earnings of the division from Indianapolis to Pekin and Peoria are large, and have been for a considerable period greater than the amount required for interest on all bonds issued by the company. Regular trains are running on more than 100 miles of the extension, and total receipts of the road for this year must be very satisfactory to all holders of its securities.

The Earnings in 1872 were $1,359,690 55, an increase of $395,000 over 1871. It is expected they will reach $2,000,000 during the present year.

These Bonds have an INTRINSIC VALUE exceeding the present low price of 90 and INTEREST, and holders will find a POSITIVE ADVANTAGE in an early increase in the value of their investment. Coupons January and July 1.

ALL NEGOTIABLE securities RECEIVED in exchange at best MARKET RATES.

FINANCIAL.

$5,000,000

TOLEDO, WABASH & WESTERN RAILROAD COMPANY'S

7 Per Cent. Mortgage Bonds.

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD COIN.

Issued for the Purchase of Steel Rails.

Principal Due 1893. Interest Coupons Payable 1st February and 1st August, in City of New-York.

The Directors of this Trunk Line, between Toledo and St. Louis, comprising with its branches over 600 miles of completed road, have decided, in order to accommodate the great increase of traffic, to relay the ENTIRE LINE WITH STEEL RAILS, and for that purpose have issued $5,000,000 of 7 per cent. Mortgage Gold Bonds.

The steady increase of business over this line will be rapidly and greatly augmented by its connection with the Canada Southern Railroad, (which will be open for traffic in a few weeks,) rendering the substitution of steel rails a necessity.

The net earnings for the years 1871 and 1872, after paying the interest on the Mortgage debt of the company, were largely in excess of the amount necessary to pay the interest on this Mortgage.

The road has no floating debt. All the proceeds of these Bonds go to the permanent improvement of the property, experience having proven that by substituting steel for iron rails on roads doing so heavy a traffic the "saving" alone, without any allowance for increase of business, is sufficient to pay off at least four times the amount of this Mortgage before maturity. The advantage of employing steel rails is so great that all our Trunk Lines are adopting them to the exclusion of iron ones.

As the Bonds will only be issued so fast as the rails can be laid, we now offer for sale but $1,000,000, AT NINETY AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY.

The large earnings of this Road, with its future prospects, make this Bond, in our opinion, an undoubted security.

7 PER CENT. GOLD BONDS

COUPON AND REGISTERED. INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD, APRIL AND OCTOBER.

THE CANADA SOUTHERN, or eastern end of this line, whose Bonds were so rapidly sold last Summer,

Is Now Finished

and will be opened for business, in connection with the TOLEDO AND WABASH and other Western Roads, at a very early day. The CHICAGO AND CANADA SOUTHERN, or western end of this line, is now being rapidly built, and the Company expect it to be finished during the present year.

THIS GREAT TRUNK LINE, when completed through, will be of immense advantage to the shipping interests of the Great West, being Level, Straight and thirty-three miles Shorter than any other route. Having connections with all the lines running into Buffalo at the East and Chicago at the West, and under the management of some of the most experienced railroad operators of the country, its success is rendered a certainty, and its Bonds must be a safe and profitable investment. It makes the shortest and best connections going West, both at Toledo and Detroit, and is the only Seven per Cent. Gold Bond on any through Trunk line now offered.

DEFICIENCY IN THE SINKING FUND,

UNDER

Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution.

The Commissioners of the Canal Fund, by virtue of the act entitled "An act to provide means to support the Government," passed April 12, 1873, and in accordance with section 3 of article 7 of the Constitution, hereby give notice that sealed proposals will be received at the Canal Department until the 26th day of June inst., at 12 o'clock noon of that day, for a loan of

Two Million Three Hundred and Twenty-eight Thousand Dollars, for which transferable certificates of stock, PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD, either registered or coupon, at option of the purchaser, will be issued in the name of the People of the State of New-York, on the credit of the Sinking Fund, under section 3, article 7, of the Constitution, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, on the first days of January and July in each year, and the principal reimbursable on the 1st day of July, 1891.

It is to be understood that the Commissioners are to be at liberty to accept or reject any or all proposals, if the offers are not such as in their opinion are advantageous to the interests of the state.

The proposals may be for the whole, or any part of said loan not less than $5,000.

All proposals to be sealed up and indorsed "Loan for the Sinking Fund," and inclosed in an envelope directed to the Auditor of the Canal Department, Albany, N. Y.

The money will be required to be paid in gold coin on the acceptance of the proposal, or by the 30th day of June, instant.

Payments to be made by depositing the same to the credit of the "Treasurer of the State of New-York, on account of the Canal Fund," in the Bank of the Manhattan Company, New-York. The stocks maturing on the first day of July, 1873 will be received in payment for subscriptions to the new loan.

Interest on the loan will commence on the first day of July next, and be payable semi-annually on the first days of January and July, at the Bank of the Manhattan Company, in the City of New-York.

NOTICE TO TRAVELERS.

Families or gentlemen going to travel on the Continent of Europe, who can afford the expense of a courier, should never leave Paris without one. Their services are invaluable in relieving the traveler from multiplicity of cares and troubles respecting passports, examination and conveyance of luggage, in securing the best accommodation, in protecting the traveler from imposition and an infinity of annoyances, to which they are exposed in various parts of the Continent. Competent and trustworthy couriers and traveling servants may always be obtained by applying to the COURIER SOCIETY, No. 3 Rue d'Alger, near the Tuileries Garden, Paris.

NOTICE TO SHIPPERS OF CARGO per steam-ship GEO. CROMWELL, hence to New-Orleans, reported in Abaco in distress.

To facilitate the settlement of the average in this case, and the prompt delivery of the cargo upon its arrival in New-Orleans, shippers are requested to send at once to the office of JOHNSON & HIGGINS, No. 62 Wall-st., lists of shipments, with invoice values and where insured.

THE ORR OBSEQUIES.

Imposing Masonic Pageant Yesterday—Funeral Services at Dr. Hepworth's Church—Interesting Ceremonies.

The funeral of the late Minister Orr took place yesterday, and was the occasion of a grand Masonic parade. The services were mainly conducted by that mystic brotherhood, of which the deceased was an honored member. The proceedings at the funeral, and, in fact, their whole conduct since the arrival of the remains, testified amply their respect for his memory. The day was fine, and well favored a showy procession, which that of yesterday was, though moving with slow and steady step to mournful music. Flags on the public buildings and on many private ones were hung at half-mast. Several houses were draped in mourning. The military, though in small numbers, were on foot, and thousands of the Masonic order participated. Along the different thoroughfares through which the procession wound its way crowds of citizens gathered to see the pageant, and waited with patience even for hours. Nor was the procession the only feature of interest. Near the Church of the Disciples, in Madison-avenue, a great congregation gathered, surrounding it for hours before the time, in the vain hope of gaining admission to witness the services. To many these were a novelty, and that alone was a sufficient attraction for those who do not pause in their chase after the curious, even over death.

The remains lay in state at the City Hall yesterday until 2 o'clock P. M., the hour set down for the moving of the procession. The guard of honor from midnight until 6 o'clock A. M. consisted of volunteer Knights, who were relieved by Constantine Commandery until 9 o'clock A. M., when Knights from Cœur de Leon Commandery went on guard until noon, at which hour York Commandery, U. D., relieved them and performed the duty until 2 o'clock P. M., in full dress uniform. At noon, Dodworth's military brass band performed the dirge from "Lucia de Lammermoor" in the rotunda of the building with very fine effect. At that hour also the aids reported for duty, and were thus assigned:

Aids to the Grand Marshal—George Van Vliet, J. Koch, H. S. Knapp, G. W. Dilks, H. G. Carter, P. Bogert, W. H. Lewis, Charles Hyde, E. E. Daniels, C. R. Braine, A. J. Brinkerhoff, S. S. Marshall, and E. Van Benschoten.

Aids to the Chief of Staff—E. L. Gaul, special aid; W. T. Lloyd, J. H. Stiner, S. M. Wright, H. H. Brockway.

Aid in charge of Templar Division—Sir Oliver G. Brady.

Special Aid to Mr. Lawrence Orr and Col. Childs—J. P. Roberts.

The last-mentioned Aid left the City Hall at noon, and proceeded with a carriage to the Grand Central Hotel, from which place he brought Mr. Lawrence Orr and Col. Childs to the Governor's Room, after which he attended them throughout the services, procession, and embarkation, until they went on the train at Jersey City.

Shortly before 1 o'clock Columbian Commandery, No. 1, E. Sir Walter M. Fleming commanding, with E. Sir Robert Black, Grand Senior Warden, E. Sir Fred. Herring, P. C., and E. Sir J. A. Reed, M. D., P. G. W., proceeded to and across the Jersey City ferry, to act as an escort to the delegation of Knights from New-Jersey. On the Jersey side the following commanderies were met and escorted to New-York: Hugh De Payen Commandery, No. 1, under Past Grand Commander Samuel Stevens, and delegations from Damascus, No. 5; Cœur de Leon, No. 8; St. John, No. 9; Odo de St. Arnaud, No. 12, and St. Omar, No. 13, with the Grand Commandery of New-Jersey, consisting of Sirs J. B. Borden, Grand Commander; W. H. McIlhanney, D. G. C.; R. Donahea, P. G. C. G.; J. W. Congdon, C. S. B.; T. H. R. Redway, G. J. W., and other Grand officers, E. Sir J. W. Congdon acting as Grand Captain General, and Sir C. H. Ingalls as Aid to the Grand Commander. After the usual salutes, the New-Jersey delegation, numbering 250 swords, crossed the ferry, and marched along Cortlandt-street and Broadway to the City Hall, preceded by Dodworth's Knights Templar Band of forty pieces and the Twelfth Regiment drum corps, twenty strong.

At 2 P. M. the Mayor and Common Council, Major Gen. Hancock and staff, the Grand Lodge and Grand Commandery officers, the pall-bearers, &c., assembled in the Governor's room, and ten Knights of Morton Commandery No. 4 were detailed to take charge of the casket from that hour until it should be put on the train at Jersey City. Shortly after, the Knights commenced to form in the City Hall Park. Keating's Grand Lodge Band next performed a dirge, during the performance of which the remains were lifted from the catafalque and, preceded by the pall-bearers, were borne down the stairs of the City Hall, the Fifth Regiment Drum Corps beating the long muffled roll until the casket had been placed in the hearse. Mr. Lawrence Orr and Col. Childs, as chief mourners, came next, followed by the Mayor and Common Council, Gen. Hancock and staff, the Grand Lodge Officers, &c.

THE LINE OF MARCH.

The line of march was then formed, and proceeded up Broadway in the following order:

Section of Mounted Police.
Inspector Dilks, with Capt. Leary as Special Aid.
Platoon of the Broadway Squad, under Capt. Allaire.
Knights Templar Brass Band, H. B. Dodworth, leader.
Grand Marshal and Chief of Staff.
Aids to Grand Marshal, in full evening dress, black, with blue rosettes and lambskin aprons.

The Grand Commandery of New-York as follows:

Ivanhoe, No. 36, Sir Fred. Gugel, E. C.
E. Sir Henry Titcomb, Past Grand Warden of Rhode Island.
R. E., Sir C. F. Knapp, Past Grand Commander of Pennsylvania.
Grand Commandery of New-Jersey.
Delegations of Knights of New-Jersey.
York Commandery, U. D. Sir Jerome Buck, E. C.
Keating's Grand Lodge Band.
Fifth Regiment Drum Corps.
Grand Lodge officers in reverse order.
Ellwood E. Thorne, Grand Master.
Pall-bearers in carriages.
Cœur de Leon, No. 23; John T. Conover, E. C., with Delegations from different commanderies forming hollow square.
THE HEARSE.
Chief mourners in carriages.
Mayor and Common Council in carriages.
Gen. Hancock and staff in carriages.
Citizens and others in carriages.

The Grand Lodge was officered in the following manner:

R. W. Ellwood E. Thorne, as Grand Master; James E. Morrison, as Deputy Grand Master; Wm. T. Woodruff, as Senior Grand Warden; Robert H. Thomas, as Junior Grand Warden; Wm. T. Sinclair, as Grand Treasurer; James M. Austin, M. D., Grand Secretary; Rev. R. L. Schoonmaker and Rev. F. C. Ewer, Grand Chaplains; Joseph J. Couch, Grand Standard-Bearer; Z. Deiderick, Grand Sword-Bearer; Henry A. Richey, Gregory Satterlee, Josiah Shove, and Samuel Jones, Grand Stewards; Charles D. Browne, Grand Senior Deacon; Isaac Teichman, Grand Junior Deacon; George H. Raymond, Grand Lecturer; John G. Barker, Grand Librarian; Johnson Fountain, Grand Pursuivant, and John Hoole, Grand Tiler.

The hearse was drawn by six white horses, with black drapery and other mourning habiliments, each horse being led by a colored man attired in black clothes and silk hat, with crape around the outer arm. The hearse was inclosed in a hollow square formed of Knights.

The procession, which numbered 1,500 Knights, marched in the form of a Latin cross, up Broadway to Twenty-third-street, thence to and along Madison-avenue to Dr. Hepworth's Church, on the corner of Forty-fifth-street. All along the line of route the houses and sidewalks were crowded with people, whose silent attention denoted great respect. Many of the houses along the upper part of Broadway were draped, and every flag along the entire line was at half-mast.

On arriving at the church the Knights formed in two lines, with open ranks, and stood at present arms while the Grand Commandery went back to meet the hearse. The Grand Lodge band and drum corps, followed by the Grand Marshal and aids, the Grand Commanderies of New-York, New-Jersey, and Grand officers from other jurisdictions, the Grand Lodge, pall-bearers, and hearse, then passed through the lines, the Knights holding their swords at present. The Grand officers then formed, from the curbstone to the church door, an arch of steel by crossing their swords, and beneath this the coffin was carried by ten Knights into the sacred edifice, the Grand Lodge Band playing a dirge, and the drum corps beating the long, muffled roll.

AT THE CHURCH.

At the church the waiting was tiresome. It had been announced that the funeral would start from the City Hall, at 2:30 o'clock, and the people who gathered at the church seemed to assume that it should arrive at the church at 3:30 by the latest. But it did not arrive until nearly 5 o'clock. Capt. Gunner, of the Nineteenth Precinct, with Sergts. Whitcomb, Roberts, and Hamilton, and about 100 patrolmen, were stationed in the church and vicinity to preserve order, while two Knights Templar guarded the entrance. Meanwhile a number of ladies contrived to procure admission, and occupied the extreme side aisles. There was no decoration, no display, except the floral offerings. The Grand Commandery furnished a "Kedge Anchor" in white flowers representing also the Templars' cross and crown; the Grand Chapter contributed a "Keystone," circled by a wreath and bearing the symbolic letters H. T. S. S. T. K. S.; Mrs. C. P. Leslie, of South Carolina, presented a beautiful wreath nearly lyre-shaped of white roses, immortelles, and lilies, with fern leaves and having the initials S. C. in violet forget-me-nots, and the Grand Lodge gave a square and compass. The front seats were reserved for the relatives of the deceased, the pall-bearers, the grand officers of the order, the Common Council, the representatives of the State, and officers of the army and navy. As soon as the music from without announced the arrival of the procession, Rev. Dr. Hepworth, pastor of the church, and Rev. Dr. Tyng, Jr., went to the door to meet the body. In a few moments they returned, preceded by the Grand Sexton, Isaac H. Brown, and Chief of Staff E. H. Kent, Dr. Tyng chanting that portion of the Episcopal service commencing, "I am the resurrection and the life." After came the pall-bearers, then the coffin on the shoulders of ten Knights Templar, next the Grand Lodge, the Grand Chapter, the Grand Council, the Municipal authorities, including the Mayor, and Gen. Hancock and staff. The two clergymen passed on the platform, followed by Rev. Drs. Ewer and Schoonmacher, Grand Chaplains, and the coffin was laid in front of the reading-desk. When the Templars had taken their places the doors were open to the public, and in a few moments the church was crowded. While the cortége entered, the organ pealed forth a solemn march. The quartet who assisted at the church services were J. R. Thomas, bass; George Simpson, tenor; Miss Barron, alto, and Mrs. Shepherd, treble. They commenced the musical portion of the services with the chant, "Lord, let me know my end," at the conclusion of which Dr. Tyng read from the thirtieth verse, fifteenth chapter, of the first epistle of Paul to the Corinthians, "Now is Christ risen from the dead." The hymn, "Jesus, lover of my soul," was then sung, and at its conclusion Rev. Dr. Hepworth addressed the congregation. There were some events, he said, too grand and awful for expression; they were in themselves so eloquent that they stood in no need of interpretation by human lips; and this was one of them. They were now standing amid the awful silence of death, and it impressed its own lesson upon every heart. In after years such a scene would reappear in the imagination, carrying its lessons with it. In this event they were taught the uncertainty of human life, which he advised them to lay closely to their hearts. He besought them also to remember that to-day alone is theirs, and they have no right to speculate on the morrow. Let them be strong in faith. It alone was the great sustaining power in all trials, the supporter in all life's trials. In concluding, he wished that the anchor of hope may be theirs, and when the Senior Warden came in death's shape to call upon them he would find them not afraid, and when as justice, the Junior Warden came with his plumb, he too would find them ready. Then may they look up to the great Architect of the universe, who hath builded a house for them in heaven, and when the summons came say, "So mote it be."

Dr. Tyng next proceeded with the Episcopal funeral services, which closed with the funeral anthem, "I Heard a voice." He next offered a prayer, and at its close the Masonic ceremonies commenced, opening with the dirge from Lurline, "Peace to the memory."

The Grand Lodge officers next formed about the coffin, R. W. Ellwood E. Thorne, as Grand Master, taking his position at the head; W. Bro. James E. Morrison, as Deputy Grand Master, at the foot; R. W. William T. Woodruff, as Grand Senior Warden, standing at the left of the Grand Master, and W. Bro. Robert H. Thomas, as Grand Junior Warden, at his right hand. The Masonic ritual service was then commenced by the Grand Master, the Senior and Junior Grand Wardens taking up the responses. R. W. and Rev. R. L. Schoonmacher, Grand Chaplain, next offered prayer, after which the ritual service was again taken up, the Deputy Grand Master, Senior and Junior Grand Wardens reciting passages of Scripture appropriate to the occasion. The Grand Master then delivered the ritual address to the brethren on death and their duty to prepare for eternity, after which he placed the lambskin apron and acacia on the coffin, at the same time explaining their moral meaning. The ceremony of committing the body to the grave, "Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust," was then carried out, the Grand Master dropping earth on the coffin, after which the Fraternity sang the Masonic dirge, "Solemn strikes the funeral chime."

The Grand Master next briefly addressed the congregation, and concluded by saying that the lesson imparted by the ceremonies would only be but an idle hour wasted, unless they carried with them deep impressions; but it would not have been spent in vain if, on going from the house of the Lord, each brother resolved to act and live up to what the institution of Freemasonry professes.

R. W. and Rev. F. C. Ewer, Grand Chaplain, then recited the Lord's Prayer, which was repeated by the congregation, after which he pronounced the words, "The will of the Lord is accomplished," to which the reponse, "So mote it be," was uttered by the brethren.

The coffin was then lifted from its place, and borne to the hearse, after which the procession was again formed.

Shortly before 7 o'clock, the ceremonies having ended, the procession commenced to file out of the church. Ranged in front of the edifice stood the Seventh Regiment, right resting on Forty-third-street, and the various lodges of Masons held positions on the side streets for several blocks above and below the church. Washington Grey troop of cavalry stood at the head of the line on the west side of Madison-avenue with right resting on Forty-second-street. In a few minutes the procession commenced to move, led by a police escort. After the military came the Grand Chapter under command of M. E. Thomas, C. Cassidy, Grand High Priest, and the Grand Officers; then the Grand Council of the United States with the following officers:

G. Fred. Wilde, T. I., Grand Master State of New-York.
P. M. Savory, T. I., Grand Master of Mississippi.
W. A. Prall, T. I., Past Grand Master of Missouri.
G. R. Garden, T. I., Past Grand Master of Maine.
C. Edmundson, R. I., Deputy Grand Master of Tennessee.

After those came the Master Masons to the number of nearly 2,000 in three divisions, the first comprising such lodges as attended from No. 728 to No. 500, the second No. 500 to No. 300, and the third No. 300 to No. 1. Next were the Templars, forming a Latin cross, a Greek cross and a triangle, and inclosing the hearse in a hollow square. Fifth-avenue, down which the procession moved, was lined with people; the stoops and balconies were filled, and from the windows popped out hundreds of heads; and wherever flags appeared they were at half-mast. Among the houses draped was the store of Lord & Taylor, at Broadway and Twentieth-street. The remains were taken to the foot of West Fourteenth-street, where a Government steamer was in readiness to take them to Jersey to be borne on a special train to South Carolina, under charge of Wilmot G. de Saussure, the representative of the Grand Master of Masons.

The New City Prison.

The Commissioners designated in chapter 535 of the laws of 1873 to locate and erect a new City Prison and Bridewell, have organized formally by the election of Mayor Havemeyer as Chairman. Mayor Havemeyer, Controller Green, and President Vance, of the Board of Aldermen, constitute the commission.

The Controller on Wednesday last presented a copy of the act for the organization of the Commissioners, certified by the Secretary of State. It provides that the land upon which the prison will be erected shall be selected within ninety days after its passage, and within six months after the completion of the new prison the Tombs shall be vacated and sold.

It was then resolved that it be referred to the Controller to collect such information as in his judgment may be necessary to enable the Commissioners designated by chapter 535 of the laws of 1873 to carry the provisions of said act into effect, and to report the same at their next meeting.

The Commissioners adjourned to meet at the call of the Mayor.

The Cotton Exchange.

There was less activity in the speculative movement at the Cotton Exchange, yesterday. The disposition to sell was in the ascendant, especially toward the close, and prices on contracts for forward delivery fell off one-quarter to one-half cent. per pound from the closing quotations of Thursday, on business not exceeding in amount one-half that of the preceding day. The main dealings were for July and August, the market leaving off weak. For prompt delivery very little was done, and the limited trade reported was for spinning purposes, quotations remaining nominally as in our last. No further suspensions were reported. The Liverpool cable advices disappointed operators for a rise in not responding decisively to the sharp advance reported from this market in Thursday's telegrams.

Funeral of a Printer and Ex-Editor.

The obsequies of Mr. John L. Jewett, an old and widely-known member of the New-York Typographical Society, who died on the 11th inst., after a brief illness, in the sixty-fourth year of his age, were held yesterday in the New-Jerusalem house of worship in Thirty-fifth-street. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Mann, of Orange, N. J., in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Chauncey Giles. A number of Mr. Jewett's former associates in the printing craft were present. Mr. Jewett was resident editor of the New-Jerusalem Messenger, the organ of the General Convention of the New Church in America, when it was first established in this City in 1855 and for several years after. He was held in high esteem by those who knew him.

APOLLO HALL DEMOCRACY.

Proposed Fusion with Tammany—Platform and Resolutions Adopted, Last Night.

A meeting of the Apollo Hall General Committee was held last night at Robinson's Hall, Sixteenth-street, John McCool, the president, in the chair. After the reading of the minutes a resolution was adopted assessing each ward committee $20, to be applied toward defraying the expenses of the General Committee during the ensuing year.

On motion of Mr. Davidson a committee of five was appointed to engage a regular meeting-room for the organization.

The Chairman, stating that the committee consisting of Benjamin Wood, W. C. Barrett, S. G. Courtenay, Judge Spaulding, John McCool, Henry R. Murray, Robert B. Nooney, George S. Purser, and Robert Boland, appointed to draft a platform and set of resolutions for the guidance of the organization during the ensuing year, were not quite ready to present their report, a recess was taken for ten minutes.

On the meeting being called to order after recess, and the committee still being absent, ex-Judge Barrett was called upon to address the body. He commenced his address by referring to the labors of the committee, and next reviewed the operations of the organization since its first establishment, and said that by their means Tammany Hall had been purified, and the corrupt and dishonest rulers which had governed that body and led the Democratic Party into disrepute had been cast out, and that he thought the time had now arrived when both organizations should be united and turn all their efforts to the regeneration of the great Democratic Party, and in next November to elect men to office who would truly and faithfully carry out the principles of true reform. In conclusion he stated that the resolutions to be offered would tend in that direction, and he earnestly advocated their adoption.

The Chairman announced that the committee were ready to report, whereupon Mr. S. G. Courtenay stated that, in the absence of the Chairman of the committee, Mr. Benjamin Wood had been requested to present the following platform and resolutions to the meeting:

Whereas, The condition of affairs in the General and State Governments, as well as in our Municipal polity, calls for most serious consideration by all desiring the perpetuation of that system of true democracy as founded by Jefferson and Jackson, and under which the country has attained her greatness and glory; and

Whereas, The constant and continuing efforts put forth by Federal authorities to absorb and obliterate all powers and rights heretofore lawfully secured by the States; the persevering attempts made to overawe electors and citizens by the uncalled-for and unwarrantable use of the military arm of the nation; and,

Whereas, The country at large has recently been shocked at the facts of rank corruption and dishonesty proven against men in official position and power in the National councils, and the committees of our State Legislature have furnished incontrovertible evidence that leading members of the party in power in this State were under the management, control, and direction of the large moneyed corporations of the State, and that legislation was enacted for their benefit and not for the people; and,

Whereas, In our City, under the specious cry of reform, we find the dead and once buried carcass of Knownothingism revived, fanaticism and bigotry, that would have shocked the sensitive natures of witch-burners a century ago, publicly exhibited and proclaimed, and under the action and appointments of our "liberal-minded" Mayor, the almost absolute disfranchisement of adopted citizens of every race and faith; and,

Whereas, All these matters admonish the people of the City of New-York that although the days of the "Tammany Ring" are numbered, and that but the remnant of its past greatness and degradation remains, the verdict of the people at the next election will emphatically condemn national and State corruption and jobbery, as well as those who were instrumental in foisting upon this municipality the weak and partisan charter of the City of New-York and the various legislative acts which have given the Mayor power virtually to disfranchise a large portion of its population; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in our opinion the crisis has arrived when it has become the imperative duty of political organizations claiming to represent the Democratic Party to regard its unity and supremacy as of paramount importance, and that individual interest and ambition should be subordinated for the purpose of securing the triumph of sound, honest, and liberal principles in the State and Municipal Government. Be it further

Resolved, That we, the regular Reform Democracy of the City of New-York, call upon and invite all good Democrats who have not hitherto acted with us, now to unite in inaugurating such measures and presenting such men to the people for legislative, judicial, and municipal offices as will furnish the guarantee of a return of honest Democratic government in this, our Empire City.

The resolutions were unanimously adopted, and the meeting then adjourned.

Police Protection for the Up-Town Districts.

A meeting was held last evening at Breevoort Hall for the purpose of discussing the best means of securing a better police protection in the up-town districts.

The meeting was very largely attended. Judge Monell, of the Superior Court, was elected President, and Messrs. Clausen and Pinckney Vice Presidents. Judge Monell, after stating the object of the meeting, said that he was not familiar with the details of the matter under consideration, having but recently come to reside in the ward. There were gentlemen present, however, he said, who possessed and would give statistics that would place the entire subject in the clearest manner before the meeting. A committee on resolutions was appointed, and while they retired to draft a resolution calling on the Police Commissioners to increase the force in the Nineteenth Precinct, Dr. Dewitt C. Ward read some very interesting statistics, from which it appeared that in the Nineteenth Police Precinct there are $90,000,000 worth of property, and 80,000 inhabitants to be protected. To this duty eighty-two policemen were assigned, but in reality the working force was only sixty men, divided into two platoons of thirty each. The shortest beats averaged one and a half miles of running streets, while posts Nos. 19 and 20 were respectively nine and three-quarters and eleven and three-quarters miles in length. Half of the day platoon—fifteen men—were required to cover eighty-six miles of territory. As a consequence, Dr. Ward said, burglaries and robberies, the latter often committed in open day, were frequent. Only a few days since the wife of Mr. F. G. Van Vliet was knocked down at noon in Seventy-first-street and robbed of a gold chain worth $300. The lady became dangerously ill from the effects of the fright. Numerous other instances of daring outrages were narrated.

The Committee on Resolutions presented the following, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That a petition signed by the inhabitants of the Nineteenth Precinct be presented to the honorable Board of Police Commissioners praying for an increase of the present force to at least 150 men.

On motion of Judge Larremore, a committee of thirteen was appointed by the Chair to present the petition to the Police Commissioners when it shall have received a sufficient number of signatures. The following is the committee: Geo. Opdyke, Severn D. Moulton, Alderman Robert McCafferty, Louis Philipps, Judge Joseph McGuire, Judge C. L. Monnel, Hon. Jas. R. Davies, R. L. Larremore, W. W. Robinson, Walter Renekney, Dewitt C. Ward, Wm. C. Connor, J. L. Schuyler, S. Goldenbergh, and James L. Miller.

After a Finance Committee of seven had been appointed, the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the Chair.

A Pleasant Day at Irvington.

The employes of the Children's Aid Society were entertained by Mr. John E. Williams, Treasurer of the Society, yesterday, at his villa at Irvington, on the Hudson. The steam-boat Fort Lee was chartered to convey the party. Starting from Thirty-fourth-street dock at 9 o'clock A. M., the boat proceeded to Englewood and took aboard Wm. A. Booth, the President of the Society. The company arrived at Irvington at noon, and were conveyed in carriages to the beautiful villa of Mr. Williams. After spending some time viewing the grounds, conservatory, and garden, the party was entertained at a repast. When the cloth was removed, an address was presented to Mr. Williams, on behalf of the teachers, and a suitable response was given by the host. Songs and speeches helped to pass away the evening until the hour for departure arrived, when mutual adieus were exchanged and the visitors returned to the City.

The East River Bridge.

The action of the directors of the East River Bridge in calling for another installment of ten per cent. on the subscribed capital was discussed yesterday in Brooklyn political circles, outside of which, however, the subject did not receive much attention. The general feeling, so far as it went, appeared to be one of confidence in the directors of the enterprise, and there does not seem to be any fear of serious delay in the work. The situation of affairs at present is easily understood. Sufficient money is on hand to last until the installment falls due on the 19th inst, and several of the stockholders declare themselves ready to pay up the money due on their subscriptions. In any event, it is probable that an installment will be forthcoming from the City Treasury, in case the stockholders should decide to await the Governor's disposition of the bill authorizing the reduction of the stock, and providing virtually for the completion of the work by the cities.

NEW-YORK AND SUBURBAN NEWS.

NEW-YORK.

Thomas Collery, fifteen years old, was committed by Justice Dowling yesterday on a charge of robbing Robert Phelan, of No. 121 Henry-street.

Hall's well-known brass, reed, and string bands will commence their season on the steamers Bristol and Providence, of the Fall River line, on Monday, June 16.

The Société des Gardes Lafayette has remitted the sum of $187 20 to the French Benevolent Society as a contribution toward a fund for the erection of a French Asylum.

Eighteen complaints against delinquent members of the police force were tried before the Board yesterday morning, but none of the cases were of the slightest public interest.

Col. S. Spencer addressed the Unity Republican Association, (colored,) last evening, at their club-rooms, No. 80 Sullivan-street. Mr. Washington Parker presided. The attendance was large.

Judge Robinson yesterday confirmed the report of the referee in the divorce case of Catharine McIntyre against Charles McIntyre, and granted a decree of divorce, with $1,000 alimony and $500 counsel's fee.

The School Teachers' Association held its annual reception at the Grand Opera-house yesterday. Vocal and instrumental music, readings, and comic recitations formed the chief part of the programme.

The Eighteenth Assembly District Republican Association met last evening at No. 457 Fourth-avenue, Mr. A. P. Man presiding. The regular business was transacted and a number of new members admitted.

In the Jefferson Market Police Court, before Justice Ledwith, yesterday, Wm. Dundee, colored, was committed for trial on a charge of stealing a watch worth $133 from the room of John O'Reilly, at No. 107 Seventh-avenue.

Anthony Canolis, an Italian, alias Charles Hoffman, was arrested yesterday and brought before Justice Ledwith on a charge of forging a check for $1,000 on the Mechanics and Traders' Bank. He was held in default of $4,000 bail.

The Boys' Protective Association met last evening in the City Hall Park. The President reported that several hundred names had been added to the petition since the last meeting, after which the organization adjourned to meet again on Monday evening.

There was a shower of hats in Broadway yesterday about 11:45 A. M.—straw hats, blown from an upper window just below Eighth-street. The ubiquitous small boy multitudinously appeared like a flash, pounced on the spoils, and bore them off triumphantly.

At the New-York Liberal Club last evening, a lecture was delivered by Mr. J. B. Wolff on "Graduated Taxation," the solution of the labor and capital question, and the remedy for the extremes of poverty and wealth now threatening the peace and safety of civilization.

Michael McKenna, Keeper of the Penitentiary on Blackwell's Island, tendered his resignation to the Commissioners of Charities and Correction yesterday. The resignation was accepted, and Michael Connolly was appointed to the position. Thomas A. Bennett was appointed Deputy Keeper of the Tombs.

At the request of the Board of Health, the Police Commissioners, yesterday, instructed the Superintendent to detail officers of the Sanitary Company to obtain the signatures of the owners of property and residents of the Five Points to petition for the paving of Park, Baxter, Worth, and Little Water streets, to be presented to the Department of Public Works.

The camera obscura recently introduced into the Central Park has attracted so many visitors that the Commissioners have resolved to erect for it a building four times the size of the Octagon, which it now occupies. The new building is to contain a disc, on which the pictures will be thrown, 14 feet in diameter, and 100 spectators are to be accommodated at a time.

United States Senator Windom, Chairman of the special Committee on Transportation between the Seaboard and the Interior, visited the Produce Exchange yesterday afternoon. He was received by Mr. Franklin Edson, President of the Exchange, Mr. Webb, Chairman of the Committee on Trade and Commerce, and Mr. Stark, President of the Northern Transportation Company. The usual courtesies of the Exchange were extended to the visitor.

BROOKLYN.

First-street, Williamsburg, is to be repaved with block pavement, the property-owners paying the usual assessment.

The ordinance in relation to the display of goods and signs on the sidewalk on Fulton-street is to be amended in the interest of the store-keepers, who argued the subject before the Law Committee of the Common Council last evening.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Jane A. Mills against A. M. Bliss were unable to agree, and have been discharged. The suit was brought to recover $25,000 upon bonds which the defendant had paid the plaintiff for real estate, and which proved almost worthless.

The second platoon of police, numbering 190 officers and men, paraded yesterday, the line of march being from the arsenal on Portland-avenue through Cumberland and other streets to the City Hall Park, where the men formed in double line, and were drilled by Capt. Dean.

During last week 170 deaths occurred in Brooklyn, being ten less than during the previous week, and sixteen less than the corresponding week of last year. Of this number only three resulted from small-pox, the victims to which, for the same period last year, numbered fourteen.

LONG ISLAND.

A distemper, which assumes the character of inflammation of the lungs or bowels, is carrying off a considerable number of horses in the vicinity of Hempstead.

Hannah Breen, aged twenty years, attempted suicide yesterday, by jumping off the bridge which crosses Newtown Creek at Blenville. Dick Scott, the keeper of the bridge, rescued the would-be suicide, and after much labor she was resuscitated by a physician at the Seventh Precinct Station.

The Excise Commissioners of Whitestone held a session Thursday, when the last opportunity was given to the liquor-dealers of that place to make proper application for license. It is the intention of the board to enforce a strict compliance with the law, and it is made the duty of the village Marshals to see that its provisions are fully carried out. It is determined especially to punish all infringements of the clause prohibiting the selling or giving away of intoxicating drinks on Sundays.

STATEN ISLAND.

Police Justice Garrett was dumped out of a small boat into the Silver Lake yesterday. The Justice was fished out minus his broad-brimed hat, coat, and paper collar, and sent home in a close carriage.

The Board of Village Trustees of Edgewater held a meeting last evening, and fixed the bonds of the Treasurer at double the amount of the tax to be collected. They also passed a resolution releasing Thomas McCormack, late a collector of taxes, from all liability under a judgment recently recovered against him for about $2,000 on payment into the village treasury of $450, together with all costs and expenses. This matter has been in litigation for five years, and has cost McCormack over $1,200 in expenses, but this is the first benefit that the village has derived from it.

NEW-JERSEY.

An unknown man was killed at Menlo Park, Thursday night, by a Central Railroad train, while walking on the track.

Joseph Somerville, a Jersey City junk-dealer, was yesterday convicted of receiving stolen goods. He was remanded for sentence.

Solomon Greenbalgh, the Newark contractor, whose fall into a sewer was noted several days since, died yesterday from his injuries.

The Hudson County Avenue Commissioners yesterday afternoon appointed their regular committees, and in addition named Wm. W. Miller as Engineer.

The cabinet-shop of Frederick Steidler, on Sherman-avenue, Jersey City, was damaged by fire about $1,000, yesterday. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

Wm. Ford, an employe of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died yesterday, in Jersey City, from injuries received by a land-slide in the new cut on Thursday night. Deceased was forty-one years old.

Trial of Van Winkle Bogert for the Murder of Ransom F. Burroughs.

The trial of Van Winkle Bogert for the alleged murder of Ransom F. Burroughs was resumed in the Passaic Oyer and Terminer yesterday. Constable Monks, for the State, was recalled. He was interrogated in relation to the watches which belonged to deceased, and also as to other property. (One of the watches being shown him, he identified it.) He also testified as to the intimacy between Libbie Garrabrant and deceased, and that she called him "Charley."

Michael Gallagher was the next witness. He merely testified as to the finding of the body. Deceased was sitting in a chair, with his feet resting on the rounds.

James A. Morrisse was next sworn. He owned the house in which Burroughs lived. Saw Libbie Garrabrant in the house on the 1st and 2d of December. On the 26th he broke in the door and went up-stairs, but saw nothing.

Dr. Wm. Blundell testified as to the manner and circumstances of death, but as his evidence was given on the trial of Libbie Garrabrant, it is not necessary to repeat it.

Dr. John Quinn gave evidence of similar import to that of Dr. Blundell's. He further testified as to a meeting he had arranged between Constable Monks and Libbie Garrabrant, which has already been detailed.

James Hand testified that he accompanied Dr. Quinn, and gave a minute account of the finding of the body, which has already been published.

Witness further stated that it was he who found the letter in Burroughs' pocket, to the effect that he had committed suicide by taking arsenic. The letter was in his pocket. It alluded to his wife's imprisonment, and alleged that as the cause of his committing suicide. So far as he could judge, the letter was in Libbie Garrabrant's handwriting.

Henry Bemokes was next examined. His evidence being interpreted, was to the effect that he kept a "cheap John place." Libbie Garrabrant and Rachel Speer sold him a watch, (subsequently identified as that of Burroughs,) for $3. Two days after, the murder was discovered, and Constable Monks took the watch from him.

The court here adjourned.

Escape of "Piper" Burns.

James, alias "Piper" Burns, a noted ruffian and thief, whose head-quarters have been in the Eighteenth Ward during the past five years, was rescued from Blackwell's Island in a most daring manner last night. He formed one of the crew of the guard-boat running from Blackwell's Island to the New-York side. The boat was signaled and started for the New-York side, Keeper Alexander Ewell being in charge. On the boat reaching the landing several thieves on the wharf covered the keeper with revolvers, and Burns, leaping ashore, escaped. Keeper Ewell fired several shots at the thieves, wounding Joseph Clark, a notorious desperado residing at No. 108 Lewis-street, in the leg so severely that Clark was compelled to surrender himself. He was taken to the Nineteenth Precinct Station-house and locked up. Inspector McDermott, at Central Office, having been notified of the affair, sent out a general alarm ordering the arrest of Burns, which is expected at every moment.

Industrial Exhibition Company.

The directors of the Industrial Exhibition Company met yesterday at No. 925 Broadway, F. A. Alberger presiding. On motion of Wm. B. Ogden, the following-named gentlemen were elected directors to supply vacancies: Richard Schell, J. H. Frothingham, Paul N. Spofford, Lewis G. Morris, Richard Kelly, G. A. C. Barnett, Aug. Weismann, Erastus C. Benedict, Philo Remington, Thurlow Weed, J. M. Bundy, Edward Roberts, and A. G. Gatchel. On motion of D. D. T. Moore, Wm. B. Ogden was elected President of the company.

DURYEAS' GLEN COVE
STARCH DEPOT
HAS REMOVED
From Nos. 49 and 51 Park-place,
To Nos. 29, 31, and 33 Park-place,
CORNER OF CHURCH-ST.
The Commercial Advertiser says that Duryeas' Improved Corn Starch has received the highest indorsement, and is recommended by the medical profession, and their Satin Gloss is in universal use for laundry purposes. The Graphic says their Corn Starch and Satin Gloss are so superior that there is a demand throughout the world. The Brooklyn Union says that they are the best in the market and, almost every housekeeper has tested them. And the Journal of Commerce and World say the works at Glen Cove have been greatly enlarged to supply the increased demand, and probably they are the largest in the world. For sale by grocers generally.
